To Darlene,

Lots of the best,
and none of the rest!
Hope to see you next year!

To one who always seems to come down with a disease (measles, flu, etc) whenever there is something planned (ice skating, roller skating etc.) you sure have the hard luck. I'm really going to miss you this summer.

Our Campus

Each day we followed this winding path to a school day crammed full of activities and daily experiences which helped build our character

Our Lady's Grotto was the scene of our Annual May Crowning. During the months of October and May we recited the rosary daily in front of Our Lady's Grotto.

Although covered with snow, this scene still brings back memories of spring days, when we relaxed on this lake front, across from school

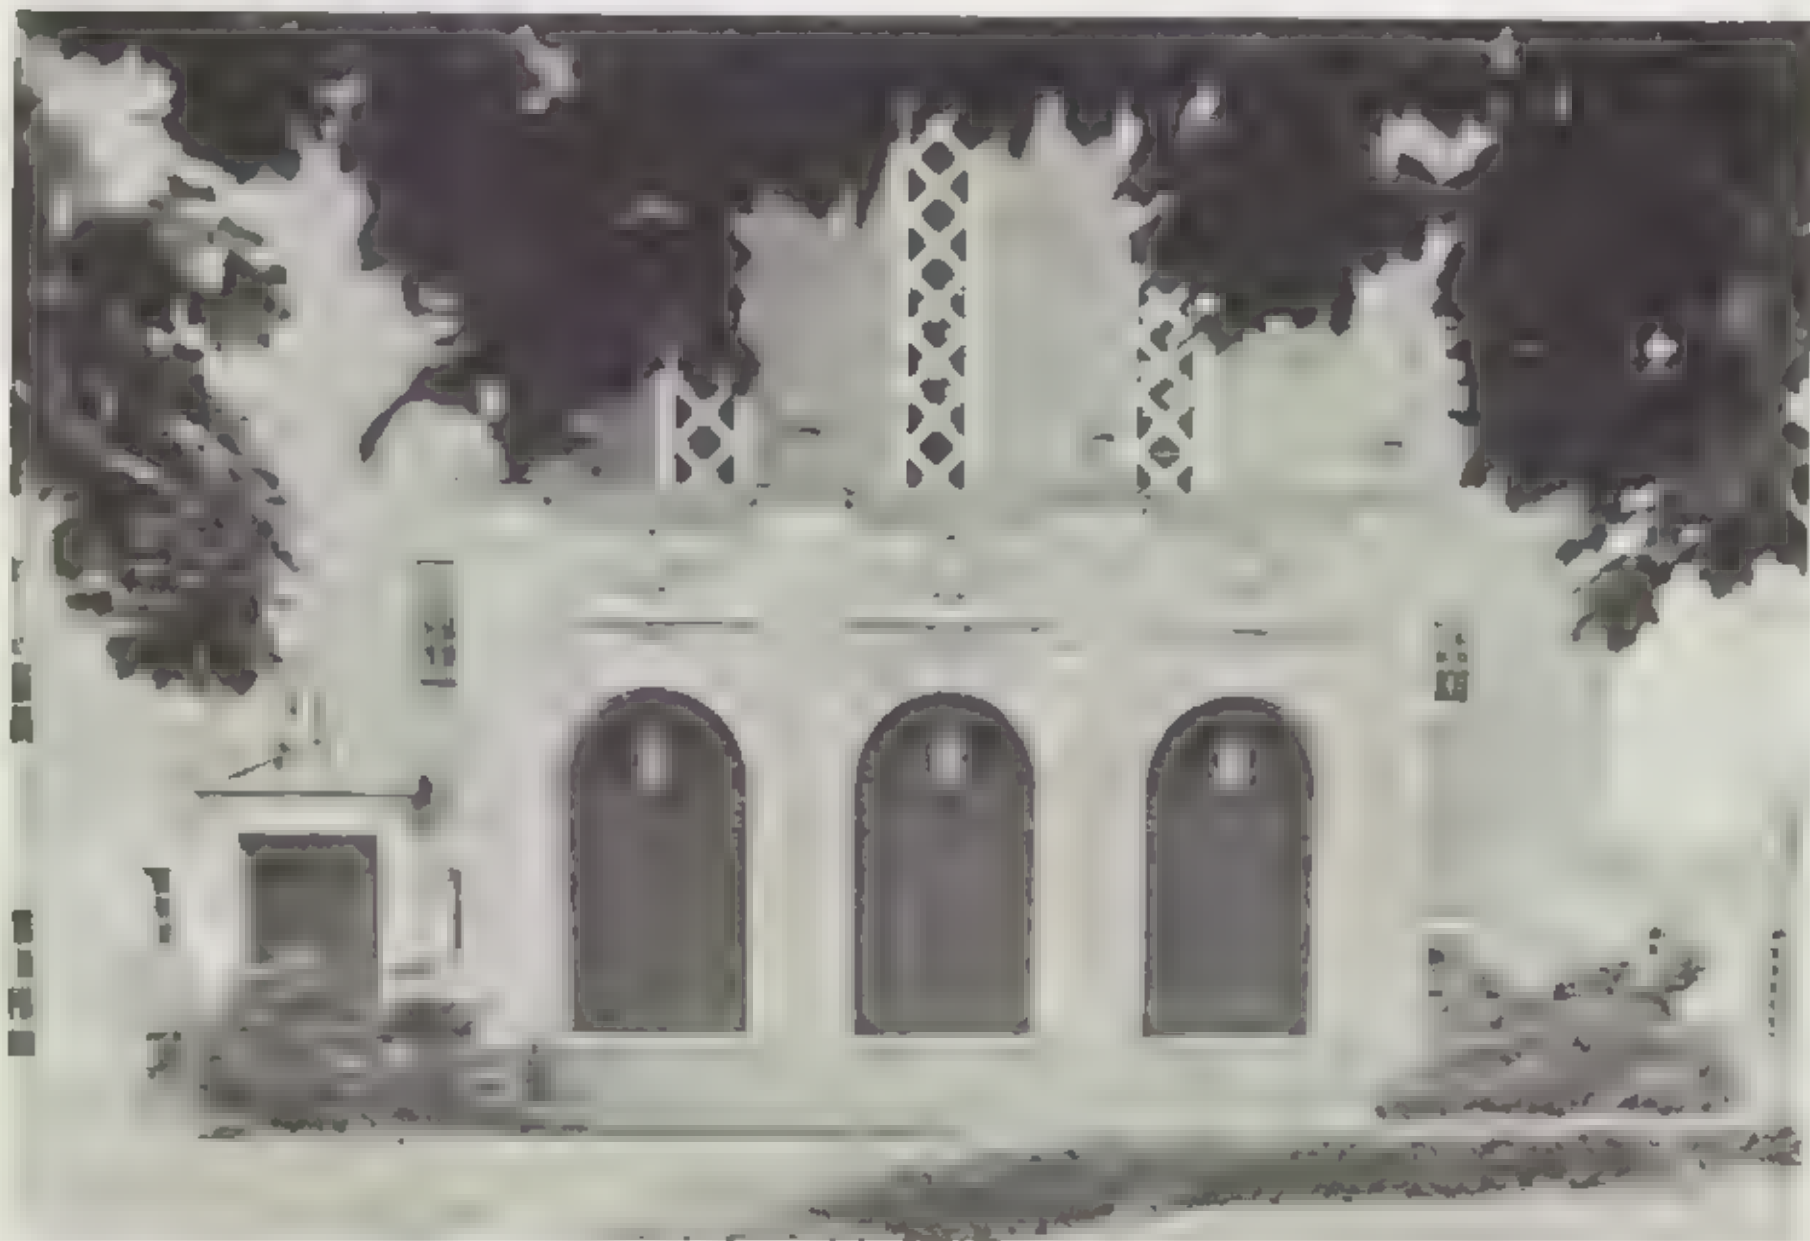

The circle drive made one of the first vivid impressions on us as we entered here Registration day.

These are the gates leading us to our scholastic adventure

During lunch hour on warm sunny days we rested on these steps before the three great doors leading to Rosary Hall

When bitter winter winds blow we no longer spend as much time on the outside of our campus but look for the sheltering walls within.

Beyond the beautiful trees are St. Mary's emerging from the building during a fire drill

Our Chaplain

Reverend Mark J. Lyons

To Father Lyons, we owe much gratitude. As chaplain, you have been the force behind our spiritual education. Through your inspirational talks at Thursday chapel service, you have helped us to reach out a little further toward our eternal goal.

Reverend Ralph A. Herrmann

Reverend Richard F. Oman

Reverend Herbert J. Schubert

Reverend Thomas A. Weber

With co-operation from the class Father Schubert broadens the minds of these sophomores, with a thorough explanation of the Life of Christ

Reverend Edward J. Wawrzyniakowski

Reverend Louis J. Wiemek

Sharing the responsibility of our spiritual guidance were six other priests who assisted our chaplain. Taking time out from their own parish activities to instruct us concerning the fundamentals and ideals of a womanly Christian life, was sacrifice on their part. For this, Fathers, we thank you. But more than that—we hope that in time to come, we will be the perfect examples of what you once taught us.

Our Principal

Sister Mary Florence

A friend and counselor is one way of describing you, our principal, Sister Mary Florence. Yet without your advice, your co-operation, your encouragement, our attempts would be failures. Besides providing us with a well-rounded educational program, you tried to instill into us love of God and love of neighbor which is really the true goal of a Catholic education.

"Is there something I can do for you?" were the friendly words of each member of the office staff. Whether it was answering phone calls, handing out absentee slips, or giving out an aspirin for a splitting headache, we could always count on them and their unlimited patience.

To prepare and serve delicious meals was the task of the cafeteria helpers. It was through their special talent that we were able to last through the day without those awful hunger pains.

In our Home Economics classes, Sister pointed out the fundamentals necessary for preparing nourishing and attractive meals. Whether the turnout was heavy bread, darker-than-usual cookies, or delicious fudge, we learned that only through practice could the proper culinary arts be developed. Our clothing instructor provided us with the help needed to make our first seam. But what confidence we gained when from that first seam came skirts, blouses, and even coats.

While touring the world in World History class, our teacher explained to us the conditions outside the United States and tried to broaden our view, so that our knowledge wouldn't confine itself to just our own city, state, or country. A glimpse of our South American neighbors was an adventure in Latin-American history. Since we do live in America, our American History teacher stressed the background, culture, and development of our own country. She tried to impress upon us the importance of the Constitution by which we live

It seems so easy now, but our Algebra teacher had a hard time proving to us that x^2 plus x^2 equals $2x^2$. Bewilderment prevailed in geometry class when we had to prove triangles congruent, but the task of drawing a circle on the board with one turn of a compass was even more challenging. As juniors and seniors we were permitted to take advanced algebra and trigonometry. Through these classes we discovered what a challenge lay in the study of higher mathematics.

How many strands are supporting this pulley? This may be the question Arnie Blattner, Theresa Welchowski, and Jacqueline Puza, ask Sister Mary Liguoria, physics instructor

Between our baseball, basketball, and volleyball games we were kept quite busy, that is, busy learning from our athletic coach how to win games as well as how to lose them. With a few rules, teamwork, and the added cheers from our fellow classmates, we came out on top

Our science classes were really fun! Our teachers tried to make it easy because most of us weren't used to such long names and complicated words. In general science we were made to understand through experiments; in biology, through the dissection of various specimens, and after working out twenty-minute problems in chemistry and physics successfully, we recognized that our reasoning ability must be developing somewhat.

Miss Louise Burdick

Miss Virginia Coogan

Speedy fingers, shorthand notebooks, and calculating machines weren't merely signs that we were taking commercial courses, but rather signs that we would soon be out on our own, making a living on the knowledge we had retained through these studies. Our teachers acted as our future employers and taught us those things which would be expected of us in our future employment.

Between classes we always seemed to meet members of our maintenance staff. Polishing woodwork, sweeping the corridors, and setting up tables and chairs were but a few of the jobs performed. But it was these people who helped make our school functions a success.

Through art and music we became more cultured and became alert to the fact that there was true beauty around us, if we would only stop to look for it.

Predominant in our minds during the first weeks of our language classes were question marks. "How would we ever learn our morning prayers in French, read Virgil's Aeneid in Latin or place in a Spanish spelling bee?" However we claimed success when at the end of the school year we left class saying to our teacher, "Au Revoir," "Vale," or "Adios."

High school is at its climax. We seniors think more of college and of a vocation. We are faced with problems more serious than those of previous years and are expected to solve them maturely and tactfully. By doing so, we have gained the confidence necessary for the fulfillment of our ambitions.

Plans we had made for the school activities this year worked out much more smoothly than last year. But then it is expected with one more year of education.

We found it difficult to believe that we were the starry-eyed girls of those graduation pictures which will always remind us of the lifelong friendships which have been formed.

Whatever we have given to St. Mary's cannot ever compare with the knowledge and happiness it has given us. We are sincerely grateful for the privilege of attending St. Mary's Academy.

Our Honor Students

Membership in the National Honor Society is based on character, scholarship, leadership, and service. According to the constitution of the Mary chapter, not more than five per cent of the class will be accepted in the junior year and ten per cent in the senior year.

When we entered St. Mary's Academy on that first day of school, we opened our hearts to the new adventure that is junior year. As we walked down the corridors we felt the lightness and bounce that comes with being an upperclassman. Those first days we spent greeting old friends, renewing vacation experiences, and becoming acquainted with new teachers and new classes.

Our first big headache came in American History class when we received 'Our Times' current events paper and were informed of a forthcoming test. But, secretly, we were proud of it because now we were marked and branded as juniors.

In our English classes, the suspense of "The House of the Seven Gables" haunted us for many days. Some of us took Journalism where we learned the fundamentals of editing the paper. Page makeup, headlines, and picas became a part of us.

In chemistry our acquaintance with H₂O, CuSO₄, and valences opened the door to interesting and exciting experiments — and sometimes much-longed-for explosions; home economics courses in foods and clothing enabled us to prepare nutritious meals and make clothing for ourselves and our families; in business, attainment of speed and accuracy in typing and shorthand was our goal.

The days after Christmas quickly vanished; Mardi Gras passed by us in a flurry of floats and booths; our Washington D.C.-New York trip rolled by as quickly as the train wheels that carried us; soon we began planning for the "big night"—the Junior-Senior Prom. The thought of asking a boy appalled many of us and we were quite sure we would die first, but as our thoughts dwelled on the planned wonderland, expectations smothered fears and dreams became a reality.

Our year was almost over now; the Seniors were nearing graduation and our responsibilities became greater. It would be only a matter of time now until we would be Seniors—the leaders of Saint Mary's Academy.

Taking time out to discuss some of the many junior activities are homeroom officers Ethel Fuss, Secretary; Rosemary Czerzanski, President; and Frances Hogan, Treasurer.

Summer quickly faded into a memory, days grew shorter, and soon we started our second year as St. Maryans. Outside the leaves were starting to fall and inside we turned our thoughts to studies. New worlds opened to us through the pages of our books.

Our second year of Spanish brought us closer to the culture of the people in the Western hemisphere. The Ancient world became more real as we associated the names and dates in our World history book with the words of Julius Caesar in his Gallic Wars and in the play Julius Caesar by Shakespeare.

The odor of formaldehyde introduced us to biology. We dissected our first frog and impressed the freshies with our knowledge of scientific terms. After the first light snow of November we visited the Shedd Aquarium and the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago, where we viewed the scientific wonders of our modern world.

Surveying the changes Autumn has made on the campus of SMA are homeroom officers: Annette Kircher, Secretary; Lorraine Bukowski, President; Kathleen Gumpert, Treasurer.

At our solemn initiation into Glee Club, we tried to maintain our dignity inspite or wearing one high and one low heel shoe. We soon found out that Glee Club was work as well as fun. After many hours of practice we were rewarded with a feeling of accomplishment and the appreciative applause of our fellow classmates.

We realized that along with the development of our mind our body must be developed, too. For that reason gym classes afforded a refreshing change. We tried to master the art of pivoting and dribbling, and we struggled with our hockey equipment. But most important of all, we, as underclassmen, beat the invincible seniors, capturing the baseball championship.

Memories of speech class will bring a smile to many of our faces. The mere thought of standing up in front of our classmates and delivering a prepared talk brought the chills.

"No, no," chides President Grace Barts as she catches Treasurer Jacquelyn Hebert and Secretary Genevieve Barbican in the act!

Geometry acquainted us with the world of axioms and theorems. It taught us to reason out problems in an orderly and logical manner. We put our knowledge to practical application by making lovely geometric designs.

Our study of the Mass gave us deeper understanding and insight into the greatest sacrifice of all. We studied the different divisions of the Mass and how each part began. With this knowledge we more fully appreciated the wonderful miracle which took place every day in our school chapel.

With the coming of Advent we began the preparation of our hearts for Christmas. We gave ourselves the best Christmas present possible, an inspiring retreat. With no classes or homework we found much time to prepare our hearts for His coming on Christmas Day.

Then the operetta rolled around. The excitement and thrill of actually being a part of the big production, rather than just a member of the audience, made our hearts fill with pride.

"Save some of the lake for us," might well be the cry of President, Dorene Mangan, and Secretary, Geraldine Gauthier, as Treasurer, Valerie Balistreri, prepares to take a sip of H.O.

With Spring came the Sodality and CSMC elections. We felt like real St. Maryans when some of our classmates were chosen to be the future leaders of SMA's spiritual and mission activities.

All the lovely moments of our year were relived musically at the Spring Concert—the song the Glee Club sang for Sister Mary Florence on her nameday, operetta favorites, the Orchestra piece from Father Lyon's nameday program.

Suddenly it was all over. We had reached the end of another segment of our life at St. Mary's. When we returned in fall, we would be upper classmen.

"The weather was just perfect for a hayride," exclaims Claudia Simek, Secretary, to Kathleen Rush, President, and Jean Webster, Treasurer, as they reminisce about their week-end.

We don't need strings around our fingers, or special markers in our high school diaries to remember that unforgettable experience known as Freshman year. Suddenly we were on the threshold of a different world; it was filled with new friends, new teachers, and a new schedule of studies

In the beginning we were caught up in the whirl of locker combinations, changing rooms after each class, and trying to remember the names of all our teachers

Before long we had mastered the school schedule and got into the swing of things. We remembered to bring our beanies on Thursday because Thursday meant Chapel Service, where we received advice and encouragement from our school Chaplain.

In anticipation of our dreaded initiation we spent hours twisting our hair into ten pigtails and tying them with multi-colored ribbons, sewing patches on our skirts, and pulling out that long-forgotten doll

We attended our first carnival and experienced the excitement and pride that come with helping to decorate our homeroom booth. We gazed at our wondrous accomplishment that cost only two dollars in crepe paper and decided that we should at least capture second place.

How well we remember our first Glee Club tryouts in Chorus class. It took some time to decide whether we were soprano, second soprano, or alto. After careful deliberation we decided to try our hand at all three. And when the big day arrived who else but a Freshie could develop a severe case of laryngitis and wind up sounding like a bull frog.

Freshmen

Yes, how well we remember. Before we had time to catch our breath, our Freshman year was over. Soon Spring had rolled around leaving the spacious campus of SMA a dewy green. We realized that our Freshie days were numbered. We were naturally glad that we were advancing another step on the ladder of education, but somehow we knew that Freshman year would hold a special place in our hearts.

As freshman aspirants we looked forward to high school with excitement and anticipation. Classes, books, and homework became an intricate part of our lives as we attended school with the Academy girls in preparation for our future work in the religious life.

There are many things we will remember about our aspirancy, but the fun we shared with our fellow classmates and the friendships formed will hold a special place in our hearts.

Mastering the polka, fox trot, waltz, and square dance provided entertainment at our recreational periods. And before long we became "old hands" at canasta, too!

In no time the year was over — a year filled with fervent prayer, diligent study, and fun.

Splashes and Splatters

As Theresa Slowinski and Dorothy Haas cut the silver to form their jewelry, Judith Sager and Judith Guszynski place their copper jewelry in the kiln to bake on the enamel.

Here is one of the focal points, states Sister Mary Faith as she explains modern art to Sandra Redman, Camille Koepnick, Judy Phillips, and Joanne Klaus.

How lovely! exclaims Sister Mary Mercy as Patricia Smith, Judeen Jacobson, and Valerie Dahl model the skirts that they have silk screened.

Accepting some valuable tips from Sister Mary Venard on the correct art of brush painting are Louisa Walters, Barbara Faltsek, Barbara Pinter, Marilyn Baranowski, and Barbara Wiklorowski.

In the midst of turning mobiles and flying paint our artists of the future toil diligently over partially completed "masterpieces" in the fifth floor art studio.

Under the careful directions of Sisters Mary Faith, Mercy, and Venard we developed our skills and talents in the fields of oil painting, silk screening, ceramics, and jewelry making. Whether it was an abstract drawing or realistic figures, the thrill of seeing our creative ideas transformed into concrete objects was great.

At the annual art show our objective was reached when our completed "masterpieces" were hung for all to view. What a thrill it was to have our paintings and ceramics praised by our fellow students and family.

Office Machines Hum

Sharon Hilpertshauser explains a General Business problem to her classmates: Barbara Frey, Jeanette Goedde and Sandra Barbican, while their teacher Sister Mary Agnes Clara listens carefully

Busily adding up numbers to complete their comptometry problems are Judith Prohaska, Cynthia Brown, Barbara Padol, Michaelene Reich, and Cecilia Winski

As the objective of the business course of our school is to prepare girls for a successful life in the world of business, we were taught all phases of office work with the aid of many modern machines.

As juniors we came face to face with a typewriter with that sticking tabulator key or the back space key that wouldn't back space, a shorthand book which looked much like Greek, and a General Business book full of difficult problems to be solved

Intrigued with shorthand are Juniors Nancy Barbion, Nancy Lemmer, and Kathleen Martin, as Sister Mary José reviews the day's lesson

We seniors who wished to continue our business course entered typing II, shorthand II, comptometry and bookkeeping classes. We performed actual work on transcribing, duplicating, and calculating machines. Equipped with the knowledge of these machines we have been enabled to enter the business world or perhaps to go on to further our business education.

Along with business classes many little problems confronted us as running out of typing paper before that important 10-minute timing, forgetting envelopes needed for addressing, doing the wrong page for General Business homework, and not making enough spaces on the electric typewriter. These added a bit of misery to our day. But with Sister's many helpful suggestions our business world soon ran smoothly again.

"Where does this belong?", queries Rebecca Gonzales of Sister Mary Lourdetto, as Sister explains the techniques of operating the mimeograph machine to her and Lois Brykczynski

Browsing through a few of the magazines are these Clothing students, Elizabeth Kleibor, Rosa Musquiz and Eileen Horbinsk as they try to find a suitable pattern for their next project.

Homemakers in the Making

Looking over some of the entries of the gift wrapping contest are Judith Pawlawski, Sister Mary Bonaventure, Clothing teacher Marie Opala, and Sharon Vruk

At the beginning of our freshman year the art of good homemaking became a part of us. In our foods classes we learned the importance of a balanced diet. Regulating the stoves in the Home Ec lab became one of our daily routines. We prepared breads, meat, pastries, and candy. We also planned menus for the Father-Daughter Banquet, Sister Florence's Name Day, Guild parties, and other all-school affairs.

Pajamas, skirts, and blouses were among our first projects in the Clothing I classes. Pajamas seemed to be more trying than the others, especially when we sewed the two legs together. We progressed some in our second year and attempted dresses, suits, jumpers, and even formals.

In the Spring Style Show we modeled our creations before the whole student body with a feeling of apprehension, but also with pride because we felt that we had accomplished something during the year.

Home Economics officers: Mary Markert, Vice President; Sister Mary Ulric, Advisor; Mary Ellen Burger, President; Barbara Sikora, Secretary; and Mary Ann Oman, Treasurer; comment on the various designs of the greeting cards displayed in the Home Economics laboratory

Sister Mary Serena and a group of her French students are enjoying the art of French conversation

Conjugating "hacer" in Spanish class proves to be fun for Patricia Kane and Mary Suhr, as is evidenced from Sister Mary Alberto's reaction

We are fortunate to have many challenging courses at our school and foreign languages are just such a challenge. We can take advantage of the opportunity of studying Latin, Spanish, or French. English is required for four years because it is our native tongue.

Our French class was made enjoyable by the use of French conversation and the recording of our voices for the purpose of correct pronunciation and accent.

Learning the customs of the people speaking Latin and Spanish, we came to understand their way of thinking. And through these languages, we came to know what they considered important and by it our standards could be measured.

We will never forget our English grammar rules, spelling, essays, and outside-readings, which often found us in a dilemma.

Tongue Twisters

Proudly displaying the hard work put into their log books are Charlene James, Ellen Mae Hilbert, Janice Kratochvil, Elizabeth Ansay, Lorraine Bukowski, Yvonne Aumann, and Mary Margaret Groszczyk.

Listening to a recording of Caesar is a change of routine for these Freshman Latin students.

While Barbara Brieske graphs an equation with the aid of Sister Mary Kent, Kathleen Kraszewski and Teresa Dillon find values for another graph

Mathematical Nuts

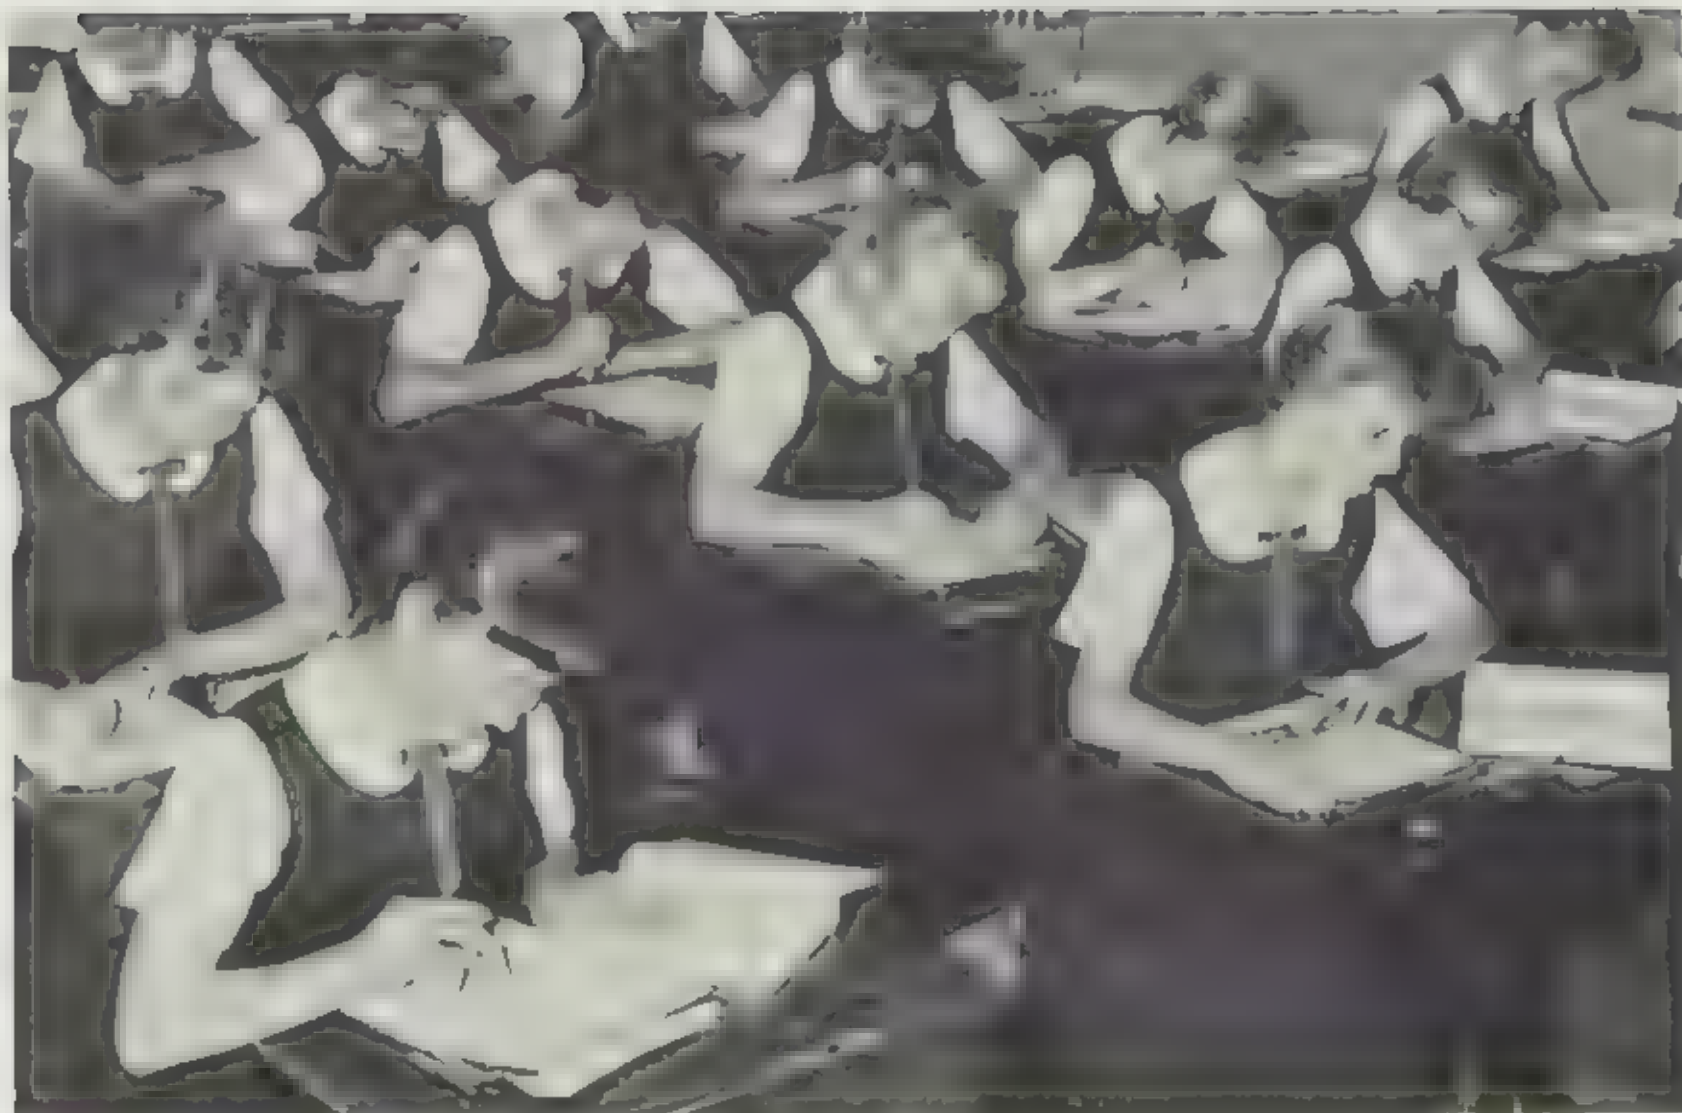

Working with the implements of solid geometry to make the subject more concrete are Geraldine Stone, Marlene Stawski, Helen Kotaski, and Judith Blankenheim

The world of math opened to us during our freshman year with either applied math or algebra. We learned the fundamentals of mathematics and we gained a new insight into this field

Sophomore year brought geometry, that fascinating world of compass and protractor. Slowly but surely we were getting a good working knowledge of math.

Advanced algebra was there to meet our junior year with a challenge. We were introduced to logarithms, determinants, and exponents.

Trigonometry taught us the shortcuts in math, while solid geometry took us into the world of the third dimension.

Geometry with its compass and protractor proves fascinating to these sophomores

Sister Jean Marie assists her applied math students in the intricacies of square root

Taking a peek into God's wonderful world of science are biology students: Rosanne Sculan, Nancy Haines, and Charlene James. Sister Mary Elise is on hand to give the needed assistance

Scientists at Work

We'll never forget the day we walked into the biology lab and Sister said, "We are going to dissect today." We picked up the scalpel and cut the slimy skin of that worm ever so carefully and a whole new world opened before us.

Chemistry was a big challenge to us, especially when our experiments just wouldn't turn out. But it was lots of fun and none of us will ever forget our first explosion.

In physics we learned about simple machines and we worked with heat, electricity, and levers. Yet, after all this, we felt we had just taken a tiny peek into the world of science.

Trying to find the heat required to raise one gram of a substance one degree centigrade in physics class are Rose Rueth, Ruth Lawler, and Renée Luebke.

Watching intently to see what reaction their experiment will produce in Miss Virginia Coogan's chemistry class are Karen Goeden, Joanne Suchala, Elizabeth Ehrhardt, Jane Stich, Karen Niquette, and Judith Nuedling.

Testing the reflex action of fish as a general science project are Marion Schullo, Connie Belli, Eugenie Kopanski, and Carolyn Ehrhardt.

A better knowledge of the rules and activities of SMA is the goal of these freshmen June Pelczynski Sharon Mac Phetridge Margaret Grycowski Carolyn Laikowski Joanne Paparban and Ruth Lubner as they study our student handbook in Sister Mary Immaculate's Christian Family Living class

Taking a classroom survey of the world are Joanne Schuster, Miss Elizabeth Reinartz Sally Sienkewicz and Jacqueline Pietura in a World History class

Understanding Our Government

The cause of a major family problem might be the point of interest for Louisa Mae Wallers, Rita Brzozwy, Kathleen Harrington, and Mary Ann Rothermel, participants in a panel discussion in a sociology class

Our nation's successes and failures as we study them in our history classes, are a guide to us for our role as America's future leaders, when its progress will be in our hands. Reading our Current Events papers we watch our country gain prestige by equaling Russia's Sputnik with our own U.S. Explorer. Studying the Constitution of America helps us to understand the purpose of our Democratic government. We follow the guidance of our teachers who instill in us the Catholic viewpoint on historical events.

Our country's founders fought to establish for us a free nation. We work here to further our knowledge of well-known past events; to extract from them the pattern for the day when we will be the nation's leaders. We value our history books which hold the story of our nation, proving the greatness with which our young country has risen to a top power in so short a time.

In our sociology class we study the family, the church, and the state. We learn the things which make the wheels of our society go round. We delve into the reasons for keeping peace in this modern world, and for performing the important tasks which will give us our place in society.

Helping Sister Mary Elvan set up the machine for the movie, "Westward Expansion," are these American History students, Nancy Lemmer, Iris Brinza, and Cecilia Sobolik

Practicing the correct techniques in the art of speech making is Claire Markert, as Sister Mary Veronica and the sophomore speech class listen attentively

Practicing correct singing methods taught to them by their director, Sister Mary Agnese, is one of the Freshman chorus classes

Voicing Our Views

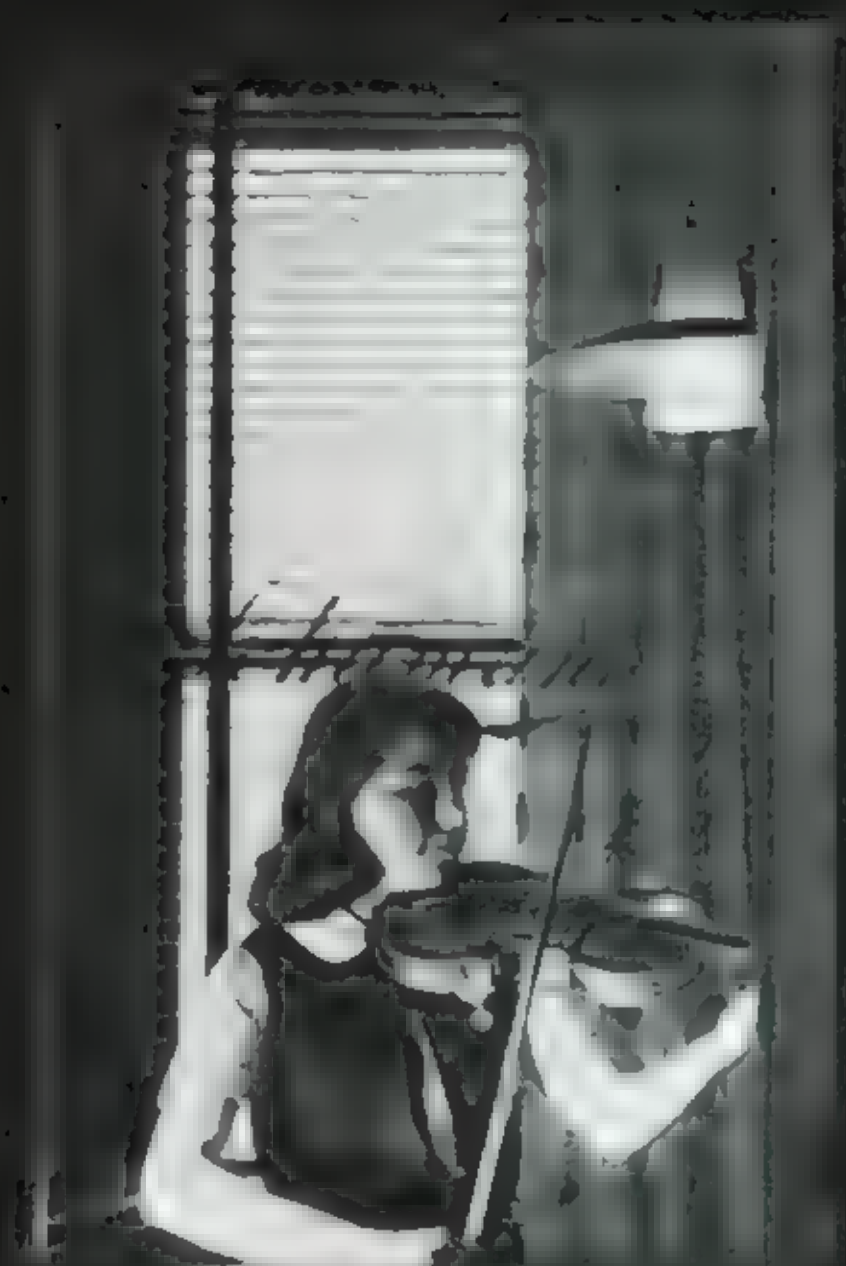

In our Speech course we studied the techniques that are a part of the art of correct speaking. Then we put them into practice so that we might develop into poised young women and good conversationalists.

In our chorus classes we heard the compositions of the old masters and journeyed to their native lands through movies. We also studied the people, their customs, and folk lore of these countries, and sang some of the folk songs.

In religion class we were anxious to learn more about the truths of our faith. Each year we studied a different phase of our religion. As freshmen we studied God and creation. As sophomores and juniors we concentrated on the sacraments. In our senior year we learned how Mother Church survived in her early days through our Church History course. We also studied the sacrament of Matrimony in detail.

By the Students, For the Students

Joan Bennek presides over the Student Council meeting as Sister Mary Florence, Principal and Moderator, answers the questions some of the girls. Members of the Council are: front row—clockwise—Lorraine Bukowski, Kathleen Rush, Carol Heitzman, Judith Zieger, Janice Pump, Grace Borts, Magdalene Cleppe, Mary n. Schulz, Judith Haines, Margot Callahan, Virginia Wick, and Dorene Mangano; back row—Judith Kaiser, Constance Emmer, Rosemary Czerznewski, Anita Kraynak, Peggy Goodman, and Patricia Fahy.

Our Student Council seeks to unite knowledge and virtue by representing the student body in the governing of the school. Sister Mary Florence, Principal and Moderator, with the help of the homeroom presidents, the Sodality prefect, the CSMC president, the editors of the Fioretti and of Troubadour, meet monthly to discuss and answer the problems or questions of the student body. The purpose of the Student Council is to create a closer feeling among the girls.

Throughout the year our Student Council sponsors various activities: in November the Senior Junior Tea, the Faculty Surprise in December, and the Mardi Gras, an annual pre-lenten affair.

As Peggy Goodman, Carol Heitzman, and Judith Kaiser select the wrappings for the Faculty Surprise, Joan Bennek and Rosemary Beczkiewicz put the finishing touches on the gifts.

Joan Bennet, president of the Student Council, presents a cup of tea to Mrs. Mary Parr, the guest speaker at the Senior Junior Tea as Cynthia Brown acts as hostess

One Year With Mary

Movie ratings are clearly shown on the Sodality bulletin board designed by Mary Anita Kukla publicity chairman, as she points out the A 1 movies to Judith Ziegler, prefect.

A living Rosary dedicated to Mary is formed by the Sodality promoters and officers under the shelter of her grotto.

"Wow, are these heavy!" exclaims Suzanne Brings, Nancy Lemmer, and Judy Gruszynski, as they bring some of the ninety-six Thanksgiving baskets from one of the homerooms. They will be distributed to needy families by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

We, the Sodalists of St. Mary's are pledged to Mary, our patroness. We participated in many activities in the course of the year and these added to our appreciation of this society.

In October, we formed a procession under the shelter of her grotto. The clear night was spotted with our white and blue lights. Hymns sounded through the air and combined to make the feast of the Holy Rosary a living tribute to Mary.

During the latter part of November we could be seen tugging anything from cranberries to celery, creating the illusion of a newly erected A & P store. The record-breaking number of Thanksgiving baskets filled proved our generosity and kindness towards those less fortunate than we.

We, freshies, were received into the Sodality on December 10. The solemn moment arrived when we recited the Act of Consecration and proceeded to the communion rail to receive our medals.

This year our Retreat was changed from January to the last few days before Christmas. With the help of Father Omar Kelly and Father Gordon Garske, our Retreat masters, Christmas took on a special meaning for us in the light of our recently-explained truths of religion.

The new year found us eagerly anticipating the Lourdes Ball, February 7, which was special this year because of the centennial of the Lourdes apparition. We danced to the strains of "Magic Moments" and dedicated the evening to Our Lady of Lourdes.

In May we had the opportunity to meet thousands of students from all over Wisconsin at our annual WCAC convention. We discussed the Catholic viewpoint on popular political and religious issues under the theme, "World Peace Through Mary Immaculate." A talent show and dance concluded the convention.

To echo our love for Mary, we ended our year's activities with the breath-taking ceremonies of May Crowning. Girls in pastel formals, the sweet scent of many bouquets, together with the honor given to Mary created the beauty only May Crowning could give.

Those who helped carry out the responsibilities of these many activities for the 1957-58 year were Judith Ziegler, Prefect; Lois Sommers, Vice-Prefect; Joyce Scholz, Treasurer; Sue Scherkenbach, Secretary; Suzanne Brings, Apostolic Chairman; Jean Gitzinger, Our Lady's Chairman; Phyllis Osypowski, Eucharistic Chairman; and Mary Anita Kukla, Publicity Chairman; with the guidance of Sister Mary José, Moderator.

Deciding what to put into the new cabinet is a big problem for Lois Sommers, Joyce Scholz, Phyllis Osypowski, Sue Scherkenbach, Jean Gitzinger, and Sister Mary Jose.

To highlight the Sodality activities of the year, Lee Anne Kirtchen, prefect, recites the dedication to Mary before crowning her Queen of May.

We Share Our Blessings

"I like this!" seems to be the expression on Sister Maris Stella's face, as Barbara Sikora, Publicity chairman, presents her idea of an officers' meeting

As active members of the CSMC, we share our blessings in the gift of faith and in our many material goods. Through our various activities, under the direction of our moderator, Sister Maris Stella, we are continually striving to bring Christ to our less fortunate fellowmen by fulfilling our three-fold objective of prayer, study, and sacrifice Studying to learn of world missions and sharing ideas with others in the annual Oratorical Contest represents our constant search for truth.

Clothing chairman, Catherine Brings, and promoter, Donna Wolf, examine a barrel of clothing before packing

Apparently pleased with results of Penny-a-day Club, lost and found, and other fund collections are promoter, Ellen Schreihart, and Dianne Daniels, Treasurer

Mother Mary Madeline graciously accepts a check from the proceeds of the annual CSMC carnival from CSMC President, Margot Callahan, Donna Daniels, Treasurer, Anne Wagner, Secretary, and Catherine Brings, Vice-President, view this with pride as representatives of their fellow students who made possible this aid for St. Ann's Infirmary.

During the day our prayers ascend to our Heavenly Father requesting the descent of his favors on our brothers be they rich or poor, healthy or diseased, Christian or pagan, that we may all one day be united in eternal bliss.

Each month several hundred pounds of clothing are sent to missions throughout the United States. All medicine donated is forwarded to the Maryknoll Sisters Clinic in Pusan, Korea.

May the official prayer of the CSMC, which is recited before each class, always be in our hearts: 'Queen of Apostles, pray for the missions that all may know the Savior of the world.'

Eileen Warner, Trinidad, British West Indies, is being supplied with clothing and financial aid to enable her to attend a Catholic high school near her home. Fund contributions are also supplying Brother Salvator, a seminarian of the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity, aid for his attainment of the priesthood.

Eagerly waiting to collect "mail" from her homeroom's mailbox is promoter, Jeanine McClosky, as Anne Wagner, Secretary, distributes spiritual activities slips. Meanwhile, Margot Callahan, President, plans a study club program.

Busily packing medicine for Pusan, Korea, are Susan Sommers, Medicine chairman, and her sister, Kathleen, a promoter, while Joyce Kopydlowski, Stamp chairman, and Maria Santarelli, promoter, count and sort stamps.

Lighting the Flame of Truth

How about using gray and red? suggests Rita McCabe, assistant editor of Troubadour, as Janice Pump, editor, shows the cover dummy to Charmaine Lasso, assistant business manager, and Catherine Zieniski, business manager.

Sitting pretty is Mary Jo Schokemann, Troubadour Queen, surrounded by her court: Lois Sommers, Bonnie Vaughn, Judith Haines, Mary Kircher, Mary Lynn Gerlach, and Judith Benzinger.

Amid photographic paper, glue cans, and unlimited patience, Mary Johnson, Judith Kubicki, Theresa Buickers, Mary Kircher, Barbara Brueser, and Mary Jo Schokelmann help each other perfect their pages for the '58 Troubadour

Our staff — where we learned to be responsible, where we developed a sense of humor, and where we put to good use our God-given creative abilities.

Troubadour and The Fioretti, objects of our devotion, will long live in our memories. Deadlines and dummies, parties and proofs, cleaning and copy all helped us to perfect award winning publications. The '57 Troubadour received an All-Catholic rating and The Fioretti was rated All-Catholic and All-American.

Highlighting our year was the crowning of Troubadour queen. At Candlelight ceremony we were awarded Quill and Scroll pins in acknowledgement of our accomplishments in the field of publications. At this time the junior journalism students received cub certificates and we knew that our year of triumph, excitement, disappointments, and joy was almost over.

"It would fit if we shorten this article an inch," suggests Joyce Scholz to Nancy Hardy as they, along with Judith Benzinger and Anne Wagner, work on a page dummy for The Fioretti.

"That should be retyped before it goes to the printer," says Lois Sommers to Francene Wolak as Joan Hegelmeyer and Janice Luehrs, two other typists, confer on the correct placement of the semi-colon

Why don't you try this word," asks Judith Ziegler of Bernadine Pfaff as she, Carol Gasper, and Mary Ann Schwartz, with the assistance of Nancy Perske, write Troubadour copy

Starting the wheels rolling for the next issue of The Fioretti are Judith Haines editor; Janice Pump, editorial board member; June Pandolfi, art editor; Barbara Kotarski and Mary Lynn Gerlach, board members; Sister Mary Lucilda, adviser; Rita McCabe, board member; and Bonnie Valuch, assistant editor

Because knowing where to find correct information is as important as gathering news, Dolores Krystak and Christine Roock keep posted on the filing system as Janice Jobst examines an exchange from another school. Florence Bistricky and Monica Searing check to see if there are any messages in their "mail boxes" for them

Enchanted by the beauty of the woods Willie Baxter (Marvin Simon) remarks to Lola Pratt (Mary Kircher), "it's kind of like a house, a little house, isn't it?" Lola replies, "ess!"

Taking time out to discuss the peculiar behavior of Willie Baxter is Mr. Parcher (Thomas McKale) and Mrs. Baxter (Judith Albrecht)

Papa Parcher (David Kilham) relates one of his typical summer night experiences to his daughter May (Judith Anderson) and her beau, Joe Bullitt (Gary Howard).

These Don Bosco boys: Dennis Peters, Gary Howard, Dennis Wasielewski, Kenneth Gross, Frank Schuster, Donald Pioneer, Kenneth Krueger, Patrick Brezonik, and Donald Schumacher portraying Willie's friends from Indiana in "Seventeen," really made Lola Pratt (Luane Sweet) feel welcome when they sang "It's Reciprocity."

Carrying his dog Clem and exclaiming to Mrs. Baxter (Margaret Maier) and her daughter Jane (Georgianne Kane) that he is ready to serve lemonade and sand wishes for the Baxter party is their servant Genesis (John Myszkowski)

Song Resounds Throughout

One of the largest organizations that we are proud of at SMA is our Glee Club, comprising over 100 St. Maryans. Our aim is the glorification of God through our voices; our goal is proper technique, pronunciation, and balance in order to transmit our story in song to an audience; the result, our complete satisfaction for efforts well received.

The new school term commenced with the Living Rosary during an evening in October. The singing of Handel's "Messiah" presented the true message of Christmas, the coming of Christ.

February was the month of operetta during which "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington was displayed by us. The Spring Concert that closed the school year was a long-awaited event for the sophomores and juniors and a dreaded one for the seniors.

In contests our Glee Club has received a one-rating in class A for the last seven years.

Tuning their instruments to the "A" given them by Yvonne Kalinowski, is the string section: Mary Schmitt, Joanne Patti, Barbara Mallinger, Patricia Suminski, and Geraldine Gauthier; violins; Alice Nemeier and Gail Czernickowski, cellos; Joyce Gehred and Lois Sommers, basses.

Janice Kratochvil, Catherine Zialinski, and Maria Santarelli, percussion members of the orchestra, are helping Jo Ann Patti, librarian, sort music.

On the day after Thanksgiving we eagerly boarded the bus parked in the circle drive. We were off to Orchestra Hall in Chicago to hear the Chicago Symphony with pianist Eugene Istomin under the direction of Fritz Reiner. Some of us felt dizzy after peering down from the gallery. The rest of us went home with stiff necks after gazing up from the first or second row.

Each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday we were seen hurrying up the stairs to the auditorium with our books under one arm and our instrument under the other. After we were inside we stole a quick glance at the clock. "Still safe" was most often the thought for it was only one minute to eight.

Making their way to the fourth floor lobby for their brass sectional rehearsal are Judith Kaiser, Kathleen Wagner, Bernadine Zitella, Patricia Boyle, Janice Polachuck, accompanist; Patricia Polakowski, Kathleen Kramer, and Nancy Hegelmeyer, accompanist.

Musicians Learn the Score

We could often be heard rehearsing for our annual performance at Sister Mary Florence's nameday, the Christmas program, or perhaps the Spring Concert, where we displayed the accomplishments of a year's hard work.

Recorded in our book of memories along with our trip to Chicago, was initiation in fall and the Orchestra picnic on Ascension Thursday. It always managed to fog up and drizzle on our picnic day, but we never let the "damper" take hold.

Enjoying the snapshots taken at initiation are Sister Mary Andr e and the officers of the Orchestra: Nancy Hegelmeyer, Secretary; Kathleen Wagner, President; and Joyce Jobst, Treasurer.

Rosemary Beczkiewicz, woodwind section leader, demonstrates the proper technique of cleaning a clarinet to the other members of the section: Peggy Goodman, Donna Wolf, Sheila Dunn, Ellen Zimmerman, Jo Ann Patti, Carol Heinrich, Joyce Jobst, Kathryn Zielinski, and Kathleen Lachacz.

All "decked out" in their new outfits is the clarinet quartet: Rosemary Beczkiewicz, Joyce Jobst, Peggy Goodman, and Carol Lynn Heinrich, as they rehearse one of their numbers before a performance.

On this same happy note we pooled our talents in planning our float and booths at Carnival and Mardi Gras. We always had a great time assembling our "brainstorms" and then when we thought we had it, we watched it collapse. But our efforts felt rewarded when we heard that we had won a prize.

Along with the arrival of robins and tulips came the District solo and ensemble contests. Those who worked extra hard received one rating and even one stars, which meant we would later be off to Madison for the State Contest.

Now our trip to Madison, our annual picnic, and our Spring Concert are over. June has arrived; our year is complete.

Widening Our Views

Mary Ann Schwartz, Vice-president, shows an interesting item in the Civics Club scrapbook to Sister Mary Chrysostom, Moderator, Mary Ellen Ziesler, President, and Francene Wolak, Secretary, while Dolores Krysiak, Treasurer, and Ruth Lawler, Historian, look on

Sister Mary Chrysostom helps Mary Ellen Ziesler, Catherine Brings, Judith Benzinger, Rosa Musquiz, and Rita McCabe

use magazines to prepare for a meeting of the Catholic Students Better Government Council

Helping us to learn and understand the importance of our government and our community life is the purpose of our Civics Club. This organization, because of its large size, works through many smaller organizations. Safety Council, Governor's Committee on Human Rights, and Catholic Students Better Government Council each have their own particular organization and contribute to the success of the Civics Club

At Christmas time we delivered over 16,000 Christmas cards to the faculty and students. The importance of fire prevention was the subject of a skit during October in which Smoky Bear paid us a visit and the SMA Fire Department illustrated their technique on a fire made of cellophane

The Governor's Council on Human Rights meets regularly to discuss racial conditions existing in the United States. The Catholic Students Better Government Council discusses national and local problems, using parliamentary procedure

The Safety Council deals with a problem in our own school — bus conduct. Each day the members keep order in the waiting lines and on the buses to see that we are acting as St. Maryans

One Big Happy Family

A typical day for us begins at 6:25 a.m., when we rise and get ready for Mass; followed by breakfast, dishes, and making beds—then off to school. At lunch time hungry residents flood the dining room, and classes follow once again.

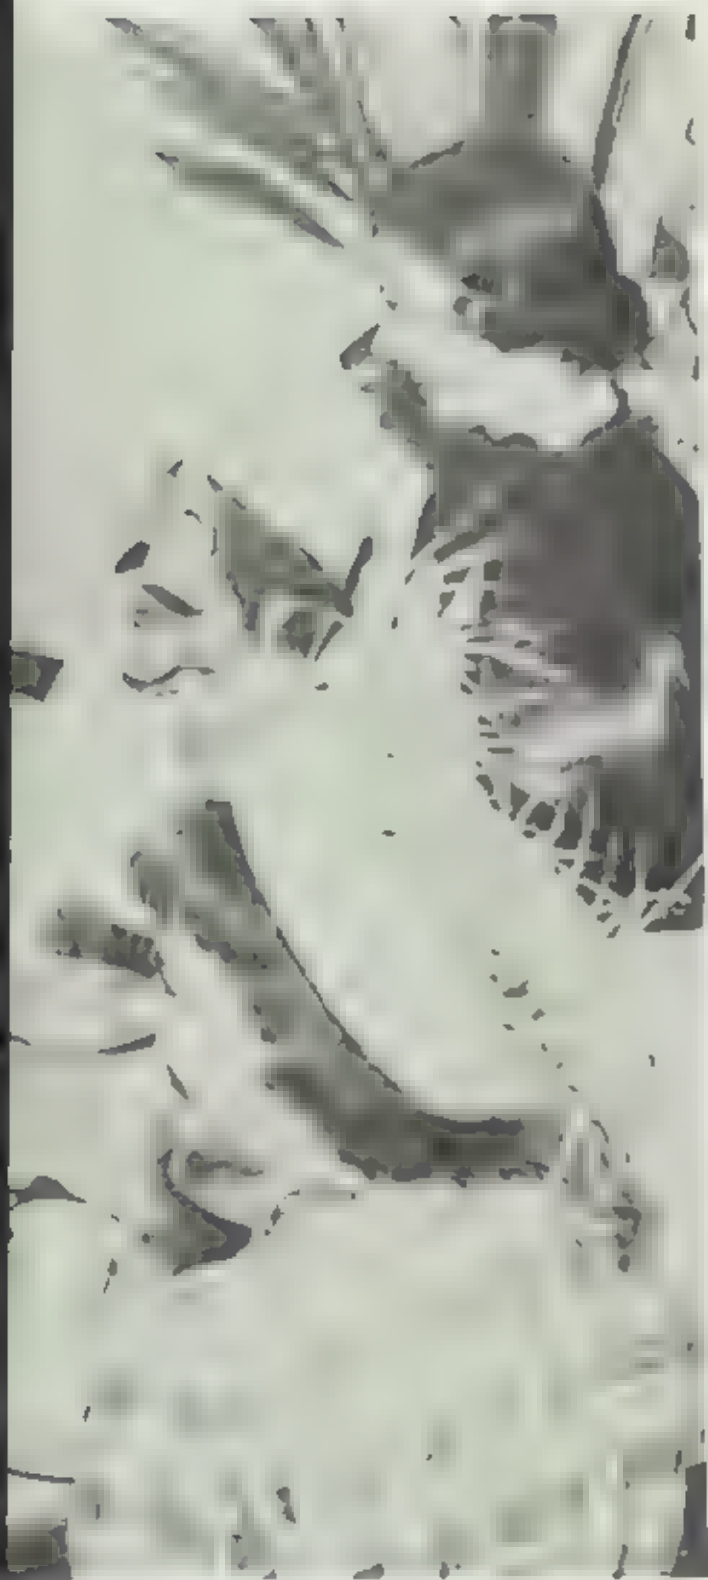

After school we have an hour to ourselves which we usually spend chatting in the dorms or going on walks around the campus. Study hall is next on our daily program, followed by supper and recreation. We spend our recreation period in our social room watching T.V., listening to the radio, dancing, singing, reading, or just talking.

When recreation is over, we all go to the chapel to say goodnight to Our Lord. Then another study hall, and off to dreamland — unless that extra geometry theorem, or Latin translation requires late study hall.

We really are one big happy family. We learn to help each other, to have fun together, and live as one family under the guidance of Sister Mary Alberta, our Moderator.

"Order is heaven's first law," might be the thought uppermost in the minds of Clara Theine, Antoinette Modler, Darlene McKune and Carol Willer, as they carefully set the table for dinner.

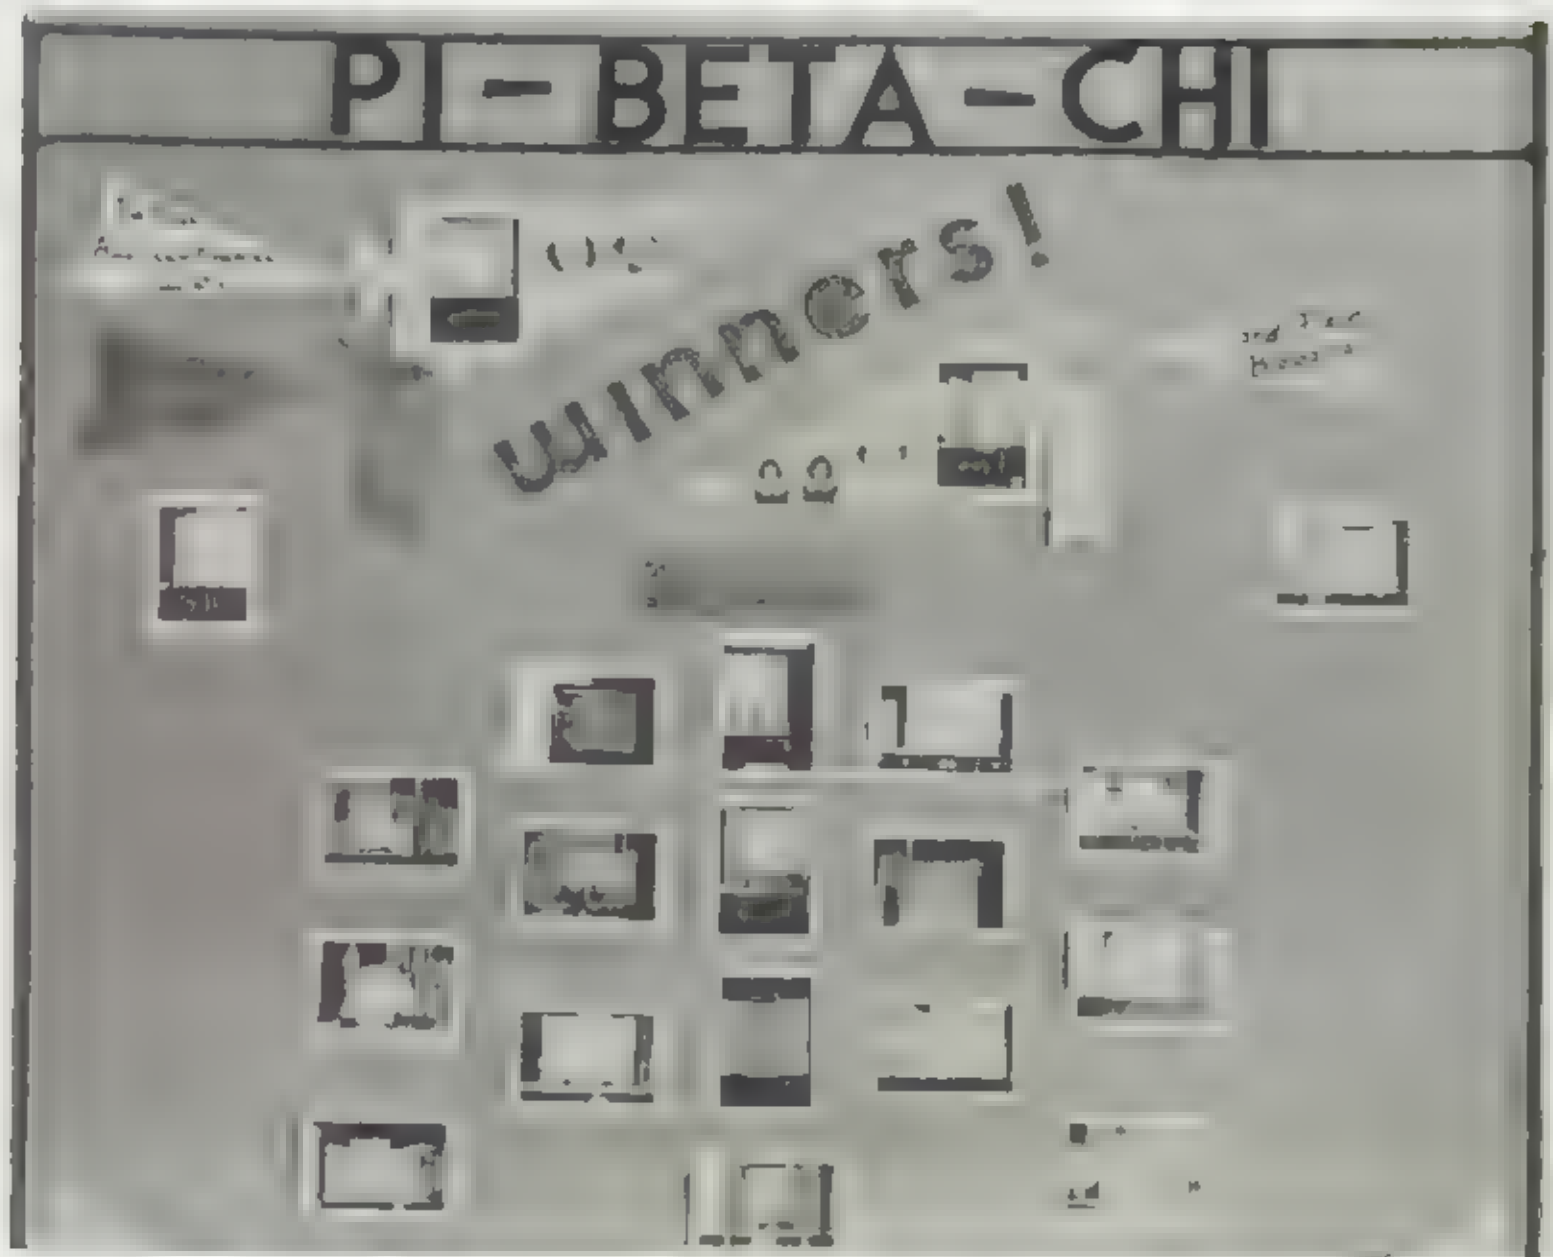

Kathryn Schmidt, President of the Resident Students Club, Sandra La Vasser, Treasurer, Mary Wisett, Secretary, and Caroline DeBore, Vice President, listen closely as Sister Mary Alberto, Moderator, studies the agenda for their next meeting.

Constance Emmer, Jean Gutzinger, Rita McCabe, Miss Virginia Coogan, Judith Kaiser, Caroline DeBore, and Doreen Mangon spent an enjoyable evening at the Resident Students' annual Halloween party. Rita McCabe serves Miss Virginia Coogan, science and history teacher.

Eagerly listening to Sister Mary Uric as she explains how to use the new automatic washer are Ellen Zimmermann, seated, Nancy Ziesler, Susan Sommers, Donna Kenney, and Annette Korney.

Future Atom Smashers

The April bulletin board displayed the winners of St. Mary's in the regional Science Fair, held at Memorial Union, Marquette University.

Sister Mary Alberta explains the anatomy of the cat to the Science club officers: Barbora Piasecki, President, Patricia Rev, Secretary, Susan Gmitruk, Treasurer, Maureen Fogarty, Historian.

Viewing their winning entry, "Properties of Rubber" in the Science Fair held at St. Mary's are Elaine Suminski, Helen Kotloski, Joan Bennet, and Geraldine Reszel.

We acquired a deeper appreciation of God's world around us through the study of the sciences of biology, chemistry, and physics. While taking one of these major sciences, we could join the Phi Beta Chi Club whose purpose was to promote a greater knowledge of science and a more scientific outlook on life. We accomplished this by entering projects in the annual Southeastern Wisconsin Science Fair which is sponsored by the Milwaukee Journal and Marquette University.

This year, we visited the paper institute, Lakeview mill at Neenah and the Institute of Paper Chemistry at Appleton, Wisconsin. Our guide gave us a general idea as to the processes and research involved in the making of the paper we use everyday. We never realized that the making of one sheet of paper entailed so much work.

Freshman Math and Science Club officers: Barbara Schulz, Secretary; Marsha Stahl, Treasurer; Kathleen Gleason, President; and Sister Joseph Marie, Moderator, find that "Math can be Fun."

Bonjour! Buenos dias! Salvete!

Pointing out Alsace on the French Club bulletin board to June Pandolfi, President; Margaret Maier, Treasurer; and Mary Kircher, Secretary, is Sister Mary Serena, the Moderator of the club.

"Bonjour!" "Buenos dias!" "Salvete!" We greeted our friends many times in French, Spanish, or Latin Club with these words.

In Le Cercle Francais de Notre Dame, the French Club of Our Lady, we were both entertained by and educated in French conversation through the movies or skits presented at each meeting. The annual banquet at which only French was spoken gave us an opportunity to display our knowledge of the language.

Listening attentively to Sister Mary Nivard, Moderator of the Latin Club, as she explains the designs and materials used in Greek pottery are Carol Gasper, President; Dolores Krysiak, Secretary, and Patricia George, Treasurer of the club.

Examining souvenirs from Mexico are the officers of the Spanish Club: Barbara Hertz, Treasurer; Sister Mary Bonaventure, Moderator; Rosemary Loch, President; and Mary Sartori, Secretary

Participating in their first costumed skit are these Senior Latin Club members Caroline Deibele, Barbara Kolarski, Mary Lynn Gerlach, and Renee Luebke

The movies which we saw and the speakers, who had been to Spain or Mexico, acquainted us, the Spanish Club members, with the people and culture of these countries. We also became more aware of the part played by the Church through our reports on Spanish-speaking saints. Our Spanish "spelling bee" and our picnic in the spring provided us with a chance to better acquaint ourselves with the other club members.

Our Excelsior Latin Club meetings were usually concluded with a short discussion on Roman occupations and a skit depicting life in Rome. When we put on our tunics and togas at the Latin banquet, we were carried back to ancient Rome. Our publication, "The Excelsior," which we prepared for all Latin students, enabled us to write and issue our own compositions.

Sources of Culture

Anticipating the work ahead, but delighted with the overflowing basket after a monthly Ritote contest are the officers: Dorothy Haas, Art Editor; Sister Mary Elvan, Moderator; Carol Witkowski, Treasurer; Judith Anderson, Secretary; Theresa Bueckers, President; Florence Bistricky, Vice President.

We realize that there are numerous opportunities for full development of personality as students of our school. Looking for an outlet to satisfy our interests, we find various clubs in which we can fulfill those ambitions.

We develop that creative ability to write through the Ritote Club. Each month, our prize possession is placed in a familiar basket, with the hope of winning at least one honorable mention.

To be poised and ladylike is another one of our goals, and through the Ushers Club, we attain these assets. Seating those who attend school programs and performances is a helpful as well as an enjoyable experience.

Peeking into the library, we find the monthly meeting in session. But we are welcome any time, for the library is a warm, inspiring place where the phrase "quiet please" is cleverly implied. We, as students, know the true value of time spent in reading a good book.

Showing the officers a selection of the newest books is Jacquelyn Memmel, President of the Library Club. Judith Benzinger, Secretary; Judith Dzibinski, Treasurer; and Sister Mary Paullette, Moderator, admire the illustrations and covers of several recent editions.

Nancy Perske, President of the Camera Club, proudly displays the products of the darkroom while the officers, Sister Mary Liguorio, Moderator; Sarah Neuens, Treasurer; and Linda Mratek, Secretary, share her excitement and satisfaction.

As Sister Mary Mathias, Moderator, gives the official badge to the Ushers Club officers Geraldine Reszel, President, and Cora Kubicki, Secretary, they cheerfully look forward to coming school programs.

"Lights Out," could well be the sign on the Camera Club's darkroom door, for here we try to imitate the professional photographer. The satisfaction of developing just one negative is worth our long hours in total darkness. Our knowledge in photography is now more than merely taking a snapshot or looking at the familiar birdie.

We catch ourselves walking in rhythm to the Maryan Music Club meeting each month. Music is an expression of human emotion, and what a wonderful way it can be developed. Singing, dancing, or listening is an art which should be developed in each one of us.

Through these clubs, we learn to work with others who enjoy the same things. We accept their opinions and add some of our own. As loyal club members, we have participated and associated with faculty and friends.

Explaining the value of a bass drum in an orchestra or band to the officers is Sister Mary Agnese, Moderator of the Maryan Music Club. From top to bottom are Judith Poborsky, Vice President; Carol Wagner, Secretary; Annette Kircher, Treasurer; Luane Sweet, President.

Lights, Camera, Action

The rush and scramble of a dress rehearsal takes place as the scenery goes up

Assisting Mrs. Moss (Maureen Young) is Mother Bassonwaite (Charlene Wolf) while Reverend Mother (Sandra Woida) attempts to console her.

Doing some detective work on his own is the Baron (Dennis Peters) as he grasps the arm of Venetia (Barbara Uszler)

Behind the maroon curtain, scenery is in place, makeup is applied, and costumes are arrayed, while in front of that same curtain tension mounts with expectation.

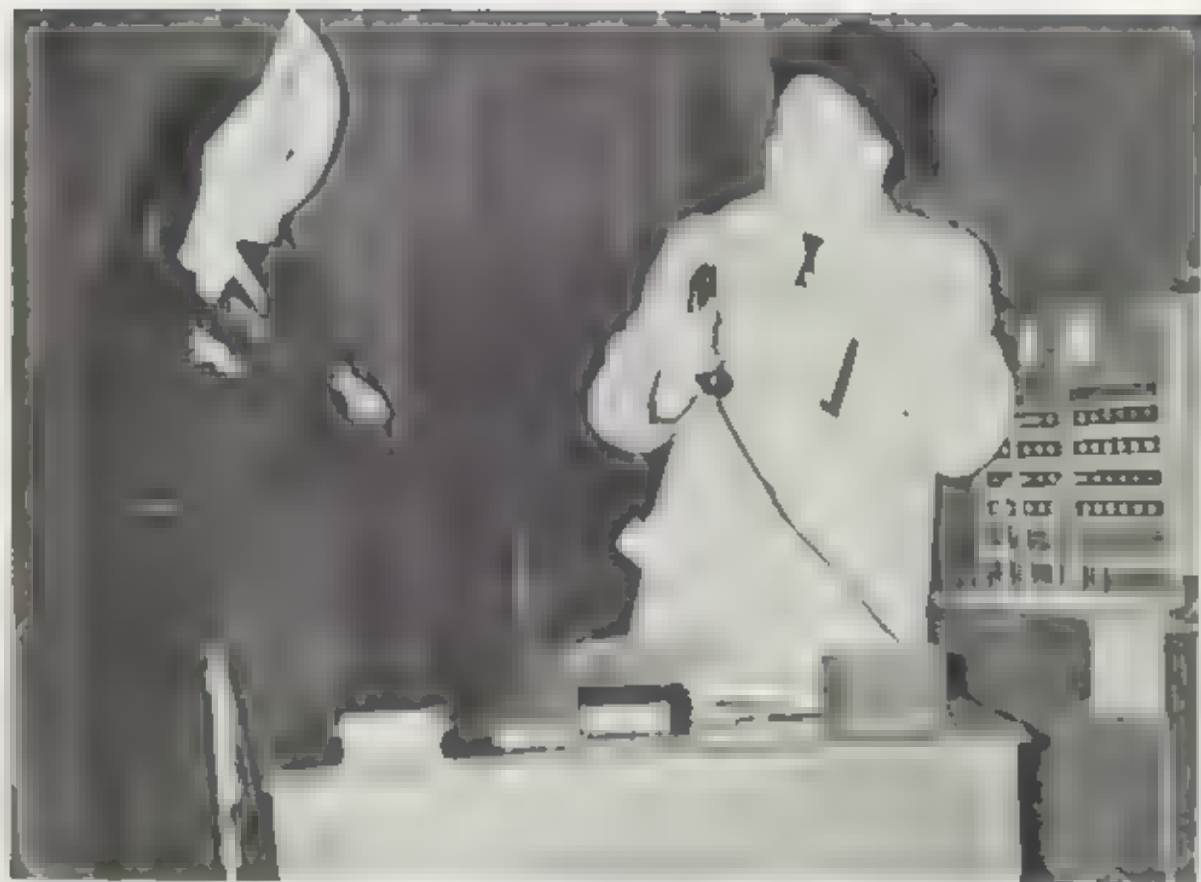

Lent, Christmas, and our principal's nameday give us ample opportunity to present our talent in play productions.

'Murder in a Nunnery,' our annual play, came to life and concluded our activities for last year. Murder monopolized the scene. "Who did it?" was the common query

Presiding over our monthly meetings for the '57-'58 year are Barbara Uszler, President; Judith Delopst, Vice-president; Ethel Fuss, Secretary; and Lucretia Wetzel, Treasurer.

Well, what do you think, who put the knife in the old lady?" Is Inez's (Joyce Marzian) question as Venetia (Ethel Fuss), instructor at Harrington Convent School, tries in vain to keep Turkey, Verity, and Prudence (Annette Kornely, Patricia Reul, and Gloria Kryfke) occupied and away from the murder scene.

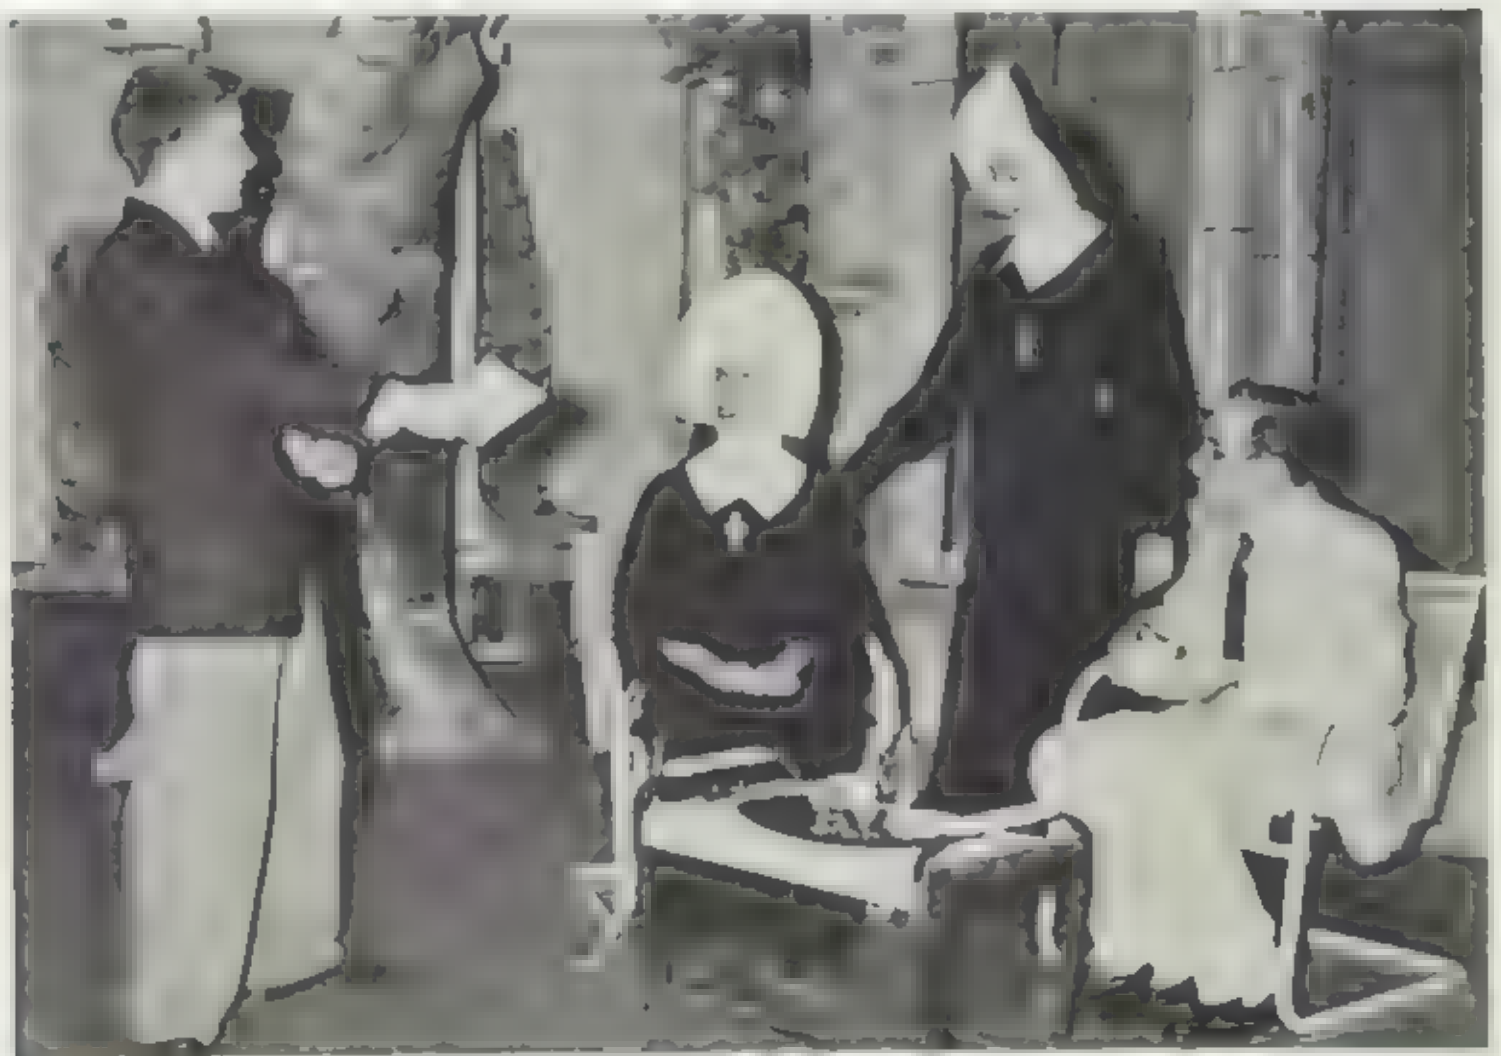

It isn't against the law for the police to use the telephone around here, is it? exclaims Sergeant Mulligan (James Alles), as Mother Peck (Sandra Locki) tries to lead him astray

Oh, yes, I am sorry now . . . but am I sorry for the right reason? We shall see. I did what I was urged to do, Reverend Mother." Thus Mrs. Ross as played by Judy Delopst confessed to Reverend Mother (Sandra Worda) that she was the one who had murdered the Baroness, as Inspector Pearson (Ronald Mazurkiewicz), Venetia Geza (Barbara Ussler), and Sergeant Mulligan (James Alles), listen attentively

Mr. Turtle (Dennis Wasielewski) who has the pleasant air of an old and retired bandit, was stopped by the Inspector (Ronald Mazurkiewicz) in the garden just as Mr. Turtle had finished digging the grave

Good Heavens, man — can't you tell the difference between a clue and an accident?" exclaims Mother Peck (Sandra Iracki) as Sergeant Mulligan (James Alles) shows Inspector Pearson (Ronald Mazurkiewicz), Reverend Mother (Julie Gerlach) the so-called new evidence

Fun for All

Which one shall it be? exclaims Janet Orlinski, who tries to win a prize from outer space as Joan McKagan, Jacqueline Pietura and Muriel Squire watch carefully.

Shave him alive and you'll win a prize, exclaims Sister Jean Marie and Joan Krauska to a sharp-eyed patronizer. The Barber Prep School booth captured first place for Homeroom 412.

Dreams of a chocolate cake came true for Nancy Maurice, as Sister Mary Dolara presents the prize. Beckoning all to try their luck are Marilyn Schultz and Ruth Lowler.

"Can't we buy two bags of popcorn?" pleads little Joy with her mother, Mrs. George Kraynak, as her sister Terry Jo awaits the decision. Also waiting patiently are Geraldine Gauthier and Peggy Goodman. Orchestra attendants for the Popcorn Wagon.

After weeks of planning and decorating, we displayed our finished booths at the CSMC carnival. Here we participated in skill games, with our relatives and friends, trying to win that eye-catching prize.

The gymnasium, garbed in its flashy attire, represented anything from wishing wells to objects from outer space. Decorative booths combined with tantalizing aromas lured all until we left for home with our purses empty.

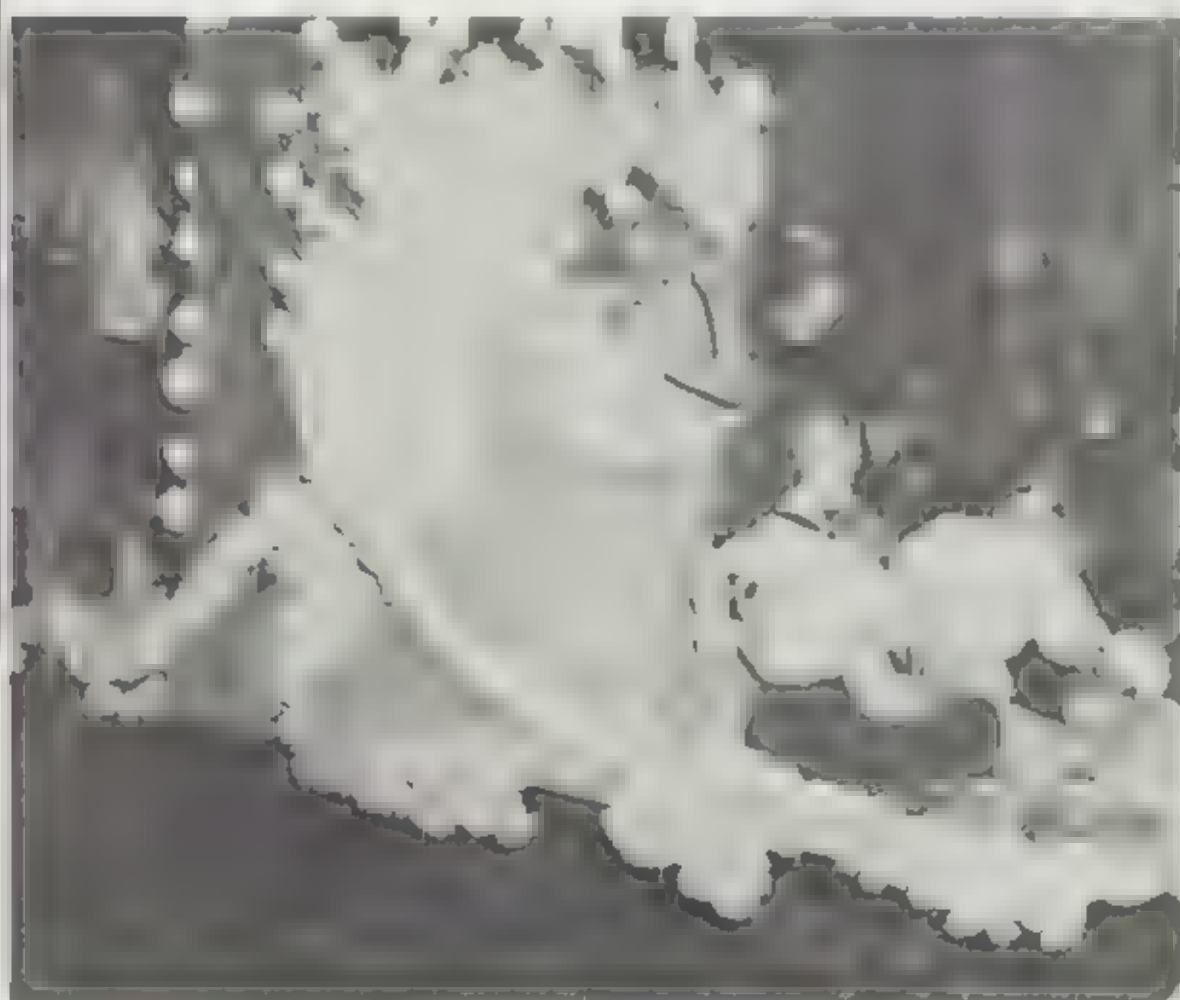

The climax of an exciting day for all St. Maryans was the coronation of Queen Arlene Blattner by her father, Mr. Blattner. The Queen's court consisted of Joyce Kasza, Barbara Piasiecki, Mary Blattner, Mary Ellen Reaga, and Valerie Bolstner. Trumpeters are Kathleen Wagner and Bernadine Zietz.

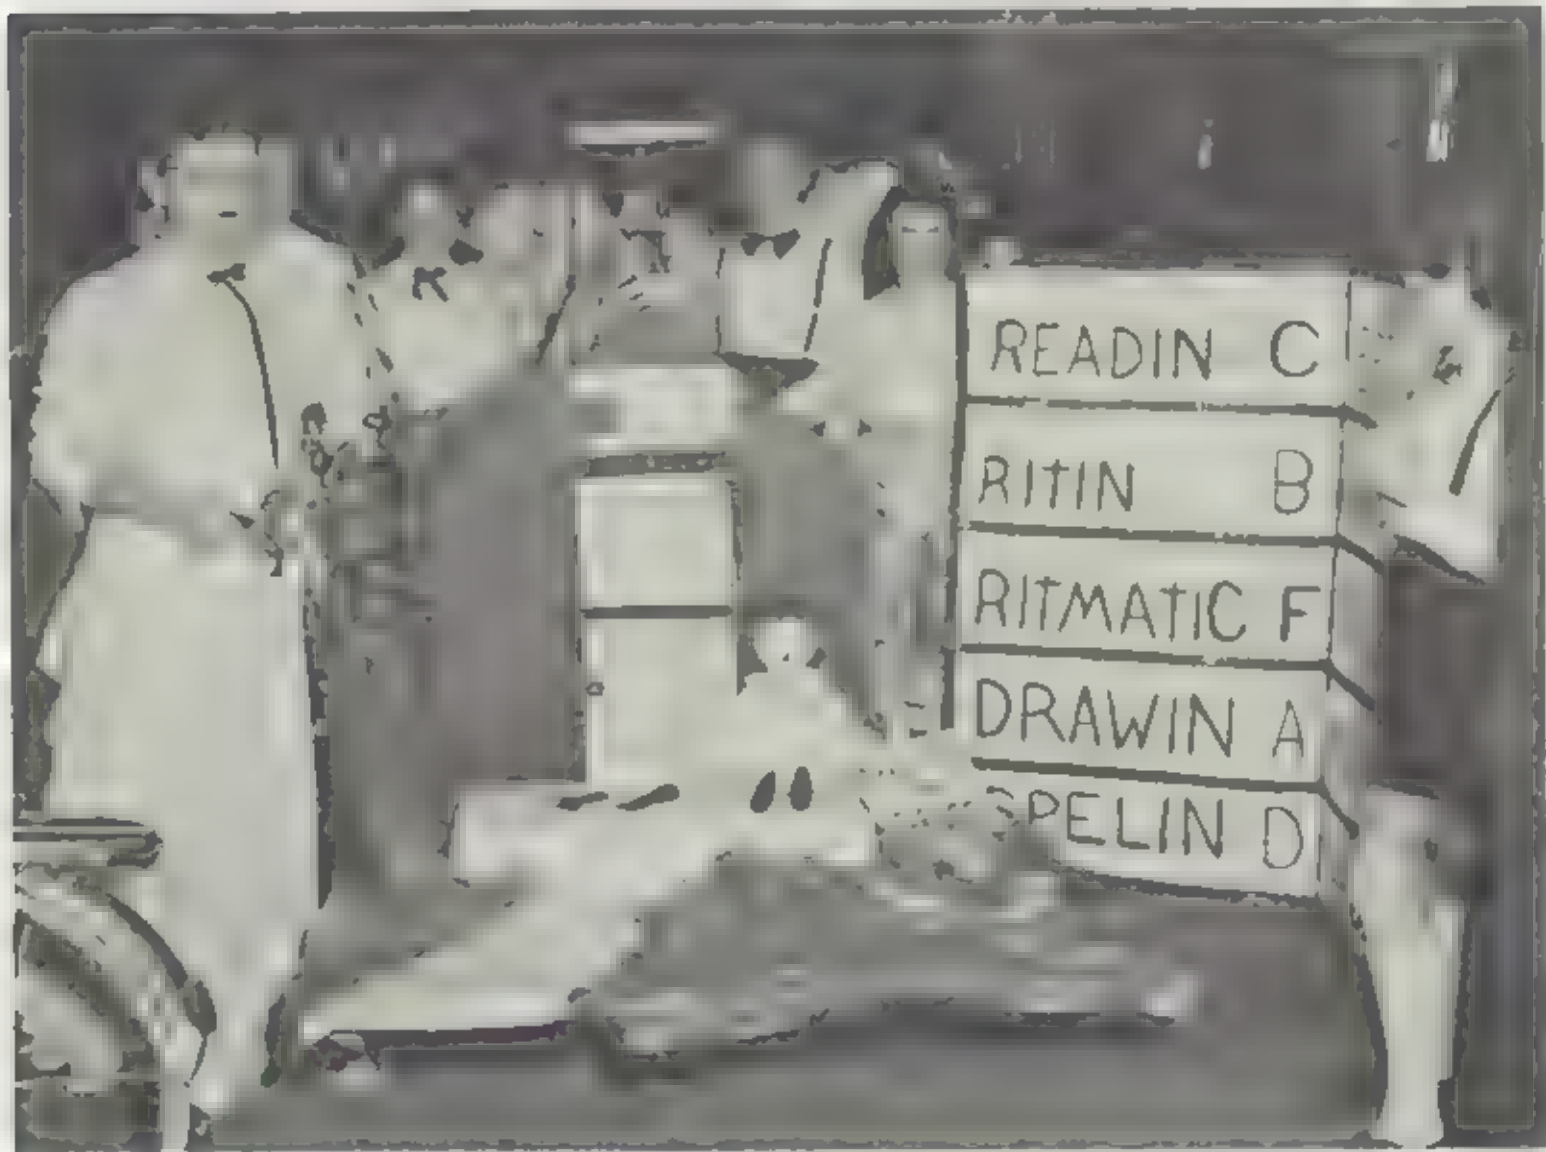

Ye Olde Judges: Editors Janice Pump and Judith Haines, Assistant Editors Rita McCabe and Bonnie Valish, Business Managers Catherine Zelasko and Monica Seering, and Assistant Business Managers Charmaine Lassa and Bernadine Platt of the Troubadour and Foretall critically evaluate the floats on originality, neatness, and beauty.

"Sweet" is the word which can best describe the float of Homeroom 323 entitled "Honeycomb".

Magic and Merriment!

Teacher Michaelene Reich brings us back to the days of Readin, Ritin, and Rithmatic, in their float from Homeroom 212 entitled "School Days".

Exhibiting their float "An Olde German Clock" are members of Homeroom 215: (Standing) Rita Brzozowy, Theresa Bueckers, and Geraldine Reszel. Peeking through the clock are Mary Kircher, Mary Anita Kukla, Theresa Slowinski, and Caroline Darbale.

Fun, noise, and laughter are three words which can best describe our Mardi Gras.

After many days of working on floats and booths, nothing smelled better than the aroma of hot buttered popcorn, sizzling hot dogs, and homemade candy.

One of the big events of the day was the parade of floats held in the afternoon for the students and in the evening for our parents.

"Unity and victory go hand in hand" was the thought in our minds when we won top honors with our float. Without the contributions, co-operation, and just plain hard work of the entire homeroom, this dream could never have become a reality.

Our Queen Bonnie

Dancing, dreaming, and wishing that the night would never end were the thoughts that passed through the minds of many couples at the annual Junior-Senior Prom. The parasols and flowers were all in place in the "Garden in the Rain" and reigning over it were lovely Queen Bonnie Valuch and King Jack Rothe. Bob Steven's Orchestra set the mood, as we danced in this lovely garden of flowers.

Sharon Kolstad and Ellen Schreihart, escorted by Lawrence Sobieske and Gerald Lupini, represented the Junior class on the court of honor. Representing the Senior class were Barbara Bosco and Joanne Wolf and their escorts Joseph Avcona and Ralph Oelke.

After the prom we and our escorts left for the post-prom party, which is sponsored by the Fathers' Club at the Antlers Hotel ballroom. Never before had an evening seemed so short as this night of the Junior-Senior Prom.

Leading the grand march, which began the prom, are the King and Queen followed directly by their court

Reigning over the 1957 Junior Senior Prom "Garden in the Rain," were Bonnie Valuch and Jack Rothe

Handing the Blessed Mother with a bouquet of red roses are Queen Bonnie and King Jack

Home and School United

Happily accepting a Christmas gift from Santa Claus portrayed by Mrs. J. R. Timmons, Sister Mary Florence, Principal, at the annual Mothers Guild Christmas party.

Yes, that cake looks delicious! exclaims Mrs. Raymond Wes to Mrs. Anton Jezukiewicz, Chairman of the Annual Bake Sale, while Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. J. H. Haebig examine the colorful array of home-made bakery.

Mrs. Erwin Polkowski, President of Our Lady's Guild, and Mrs. Benedict Gruszynski cast smiles of approval upon the portable television and hand-made afghan, which were prizes at the February card party

Distributing gifts at Our Lady's Guild Christmas Party are Mrs. J. R. Timlin, Santa Claus; Mrs. Henry Kowalski and Mrs. Francis Morison, brownies, while Mrs. Percy Hintz, Chairman of the Guild Christmas Party, observes the festivities and Sister Mary Maxelinda beams as she receives her gift

Closer relationship between our teachers and parents was fostered in the formation of two societies — Our Lady's Guild and the Fathers' Club.

The Mothers' Guild sponsors a Christmas Party, the Junior-Senior Prom, the Father-Daughter Banquet, and a Card Party annually. As members of the Guild, our mothers attended monthly meetings at which they were introduced to other mothers and renewed old friendships. Discussions of our future projects followed by entertainment and refreshments constituted many moments of enjoyment for our moms.

The smokers sponsored by the Fathers' Club provided our dads with the opportunity to tour SMA, hear interesting lectures, and partake in card-playing with our classmates' fathers.

All proceeds from the activities and projects undertaken by these two organizations offer financial aid to our school.

Alumnae Reminisce

Alumnae Association members: Alice Mirkowski, Dolores Mirkowski, Mrs. Robert Stanewski, Art Zak, Mrs. Sally Maryak Adams, Mrs. William Strydom, and Mrs. John Krohn Klauser, are busily sending out notices for the coming Recollection Day.

Family unity at school is well illustrated by the Patkowski family as Joan welcomes her sister Mary Ellen, graduate of 1957, her father, Vice President of the Fathers' Club, and her mother, President of Our Lady's Guild, to one of SMA's social functions.

Former editors of THE FIORETTI, Joan Doersching, '57, Sylvia Sieracki, '56, and Judith Haines, present editor, compare past and present issues of THE FIORETTI with smiles of approval.

Worthwhile expenditure," exclaimed Mr Leo Fendryk, Secretary of the Fathers Club, "was the purchase of this micro phone system by the Fathers' Club," as Sister Mary Andrée examines the equipment

Dramatic Art students, Ethel Fuss, Barbara Uszler, and Judith Delopst, received full hearted congratulations for their production, THE KING AND I, from members of the Fathers' Club, Mr. Walter Abricki, Mr Joseph Kaczowski; and Mr. Willis Lawler

Each year a new class of graduates is welcomed into SMA's Alumnae Association.

As members we participate in the Annual Day of Recollection, a Card Party-Bake Sale, a Style Show, the Maryan Memories Ball, and a June Banquet Reunion.

This organization has been active since 1904.

Sister Mary Florence, may I present my father, Mr. Clem Linski," were the words of Marilyn Linski as she introduced her father, President of the Fathers' Club, to the Principal.

Cleaning instruments seems more enjoyable than dutiful to Barbara Jobst, graduate of 1955, who is now a Registered Dental Hygienist in Denver, Colorado.

Come Follow Me

Admiring some of their art work are sister Maria Dolores (Deores Linsk), Sister Marie Immaculate (Mary Ann Tyborski), Sister Mary Ignatius Loyola (Joanie Sneig), and Sister Benedict Marie (Norene Bay)

Through work, prayer, sacrifice, and study these few dedicate themselves to God. In the religious life, they serve Him through the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. By their lives they bring God's blessings upon the world. At St. Francis of Assisi Convent, many St. Maryans fulfill their vocation as members of this sisterhood.

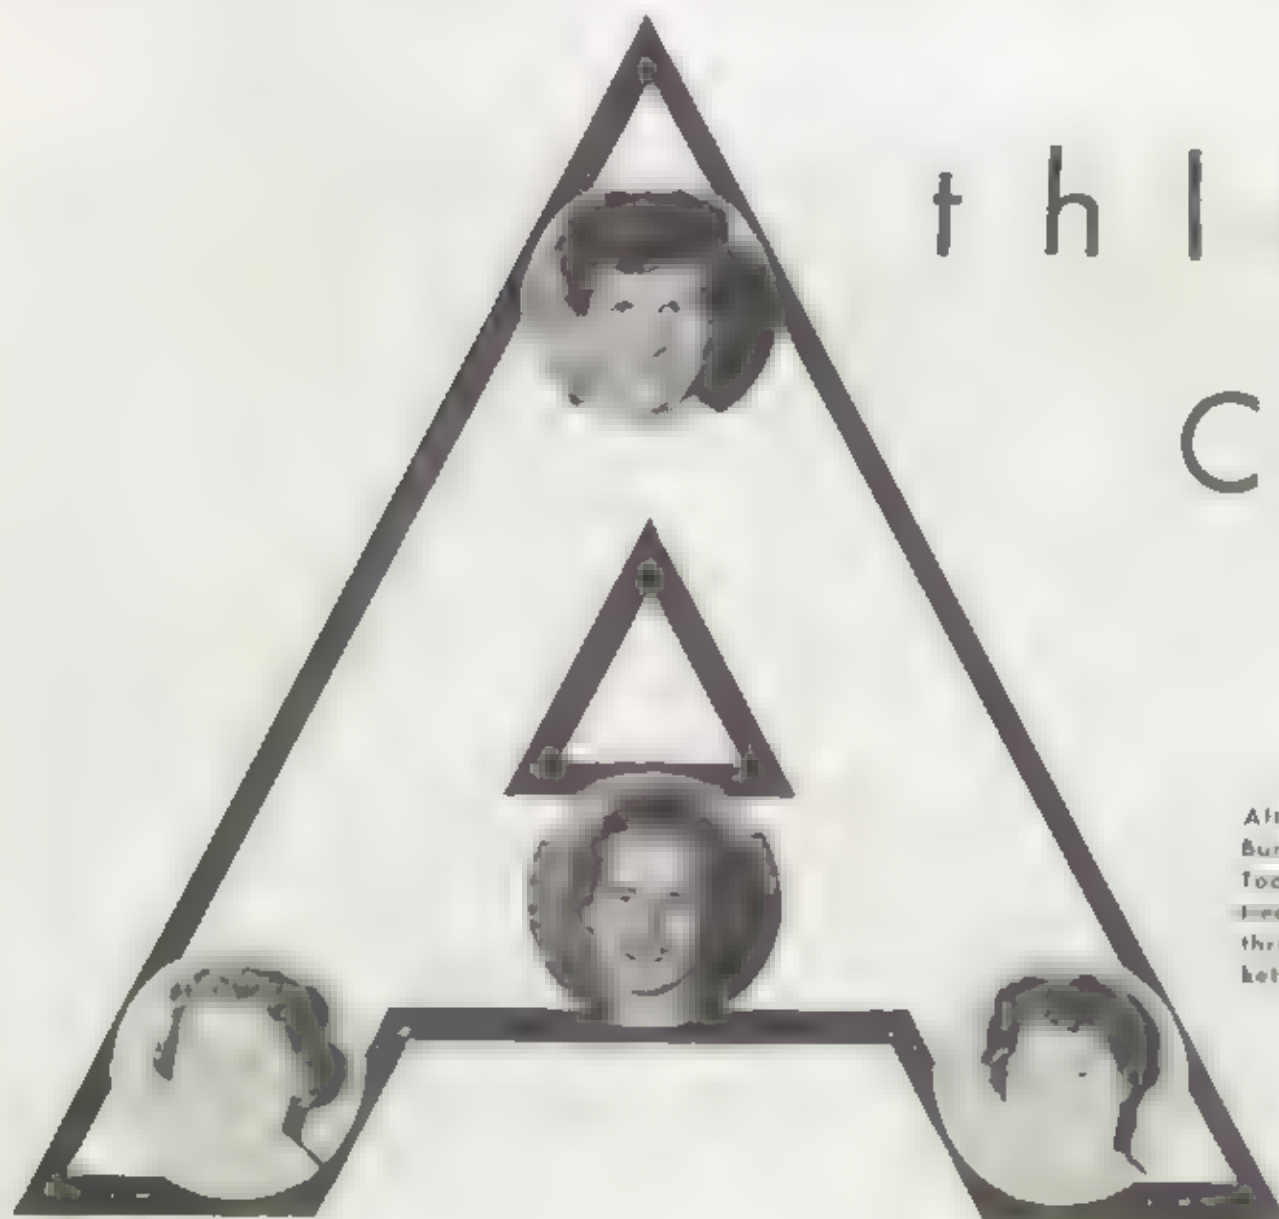

Admiring last year's yearbook are former graduates: Delores Theine, Patricia Knaflo, Patricia Cukjati, Audrey Mozejewski, Janet Klecker, and Nancy Walczak

Having an enjoyable conversation during their recreation are Sister Marie Edward (Betty B. o) Sister Mary Wilfred Ann (Annette Basler) Sister Mary Frances Cabrini (Ann Saksetski) Sister Mary Benedict (Ruthmary Mangani), Sister Mary Jan Sarlo (Ann Dretzka), Sister Mary Elise (Natalie Stock), and Sister Mary Olive, novice mistress and former principal of SMA.

Players Learn the Score

athletic Club

After another wonderful year of athletics, Coach Burdick and the Athletic Club officers, Barbara Todiak, president (left), Suzanne Duszynski, treasurer, Barbara Kotarski, secretary, retell their thrilling experiences in archery, baseball, basketball, tennis, and volleyball.

Sportsmanship, loyalty, teamwork, and responsibility are the requirements for all members of the Athletic Club. Its aim is to build and develop these traits in its members.

In the time spent in the gym we had numerous opportunities to participate in many different types of competition. There was a chance for individual merit and achievement in the tennis and archery contests. Baseball, basketball, and volleyball tournaments provided the opportunity to develop the responsibility and teamwork needed in group participation.

We are proud of victory, but we also learned that being on top was not always as important as being good sports in time of defeat. Mix sportsmanship, loyalty, teamwork, and responsibility, add a little victory with defeat, and the result will be a healthy body and a healthy mind — a fine recipe for success.

Our gym classes offered us the opportunity to learn the social grace of dancing, the excitement of soccer and wicket, and the education of health instructions.

The titles of all-school champs belong to Rita Switalski and Annette Sklander as they claimed the tennis and archery championship, respectively.

'She flies through the air' can well describe Carol Ciestak as she clears the hurdle with the greatest of ease

Individual skill and achievement were shown by participants in the archery and tennis tournaments. These contests were open to all members of the Athletic Club.

All it takes is a little aim explains Coach Burdick to archer, Barbara Mlot

'In order to hit the bull's eye, you must keep the string light,' explains Coach Burdick to these two sophs, Dorene Mangon and Judith Wojciechowski

Trying on the new field hockey equipment with the assistance of Coach Burdick is Adrienne Waszak

Will she get it?" is the question in the mind of Lorraine Schmidt as Denise Long reaches for a high pop foul

"Which end do you hit the ball with?" — was just one of the many questions asked concerning the new sport at SMA, field hockey. Sophs participated in hockey games during their gym classes.

"Batter Up" are two words which give every baseball player the hope of a homerun or the disappointment of a strikeout. In either case, the spirit during baseball season runs high among the sophs, juniors, and seniors in the Athletic Club and also the freshmen and sophomores in gym classes.

"Just in time," exclaims Joyce Kosza as Coach calls Maureen Fogarty out

"I didn't think they scored that many runs," remarks Kathleen Hintz as she peeks over Cecilia Sobolik's shoulder into the scorebook.

Proudly displaying their Athletic Club sweaters with the numeral 58 are these seniors: (back row) Coach Burdick, Barbara Kotarski, Mary Kircher, Barbara Todryk, Lois Sommers; (second row) Bernadine Pfaff, Joyce Scholz, Rita McCabe, Judith Ziegler, and Bonnie Valuch; (sitting) Anita Fischinger, Joan Nemeth, Mary Lynn Gerlach, and Mary Ann Schwarz.

Displaying the coveted baseball trophy to Coach Burdick and members of her champion team is captain, Carol Cieslak. Team members (standing) are Claudia Simak, Carol Korras, Jacqueline Pietura, Diane Oman, and Cassandra Jurkowski; (kneeling) Dorene Mangan, Nancy Haines, Kathleen Todryk, and Constance Voelker.

Happily receiving the 57 volleyball trophy from Coach Burdick's captain, Judith Ziegler, as the "Nine Behind the Eight Balls" watch her. They are standing: Rosa Musquiz, Margot Callahan, Lois Sommers, and Lois Brykczynski; (sitting) Joan Nemeth and Rita McCabe.

Temperatures rise to a fast 105° — hearts beat faster as the clock shows only a few more seconds to the basketball game. There was the first time we committed a foul — our spirits sank to a low ebb. But soon rose as our team scored again.

Don't be that way, Barbara Todryk silently urges Judith Schaefer as she tries to block the attempted basket.

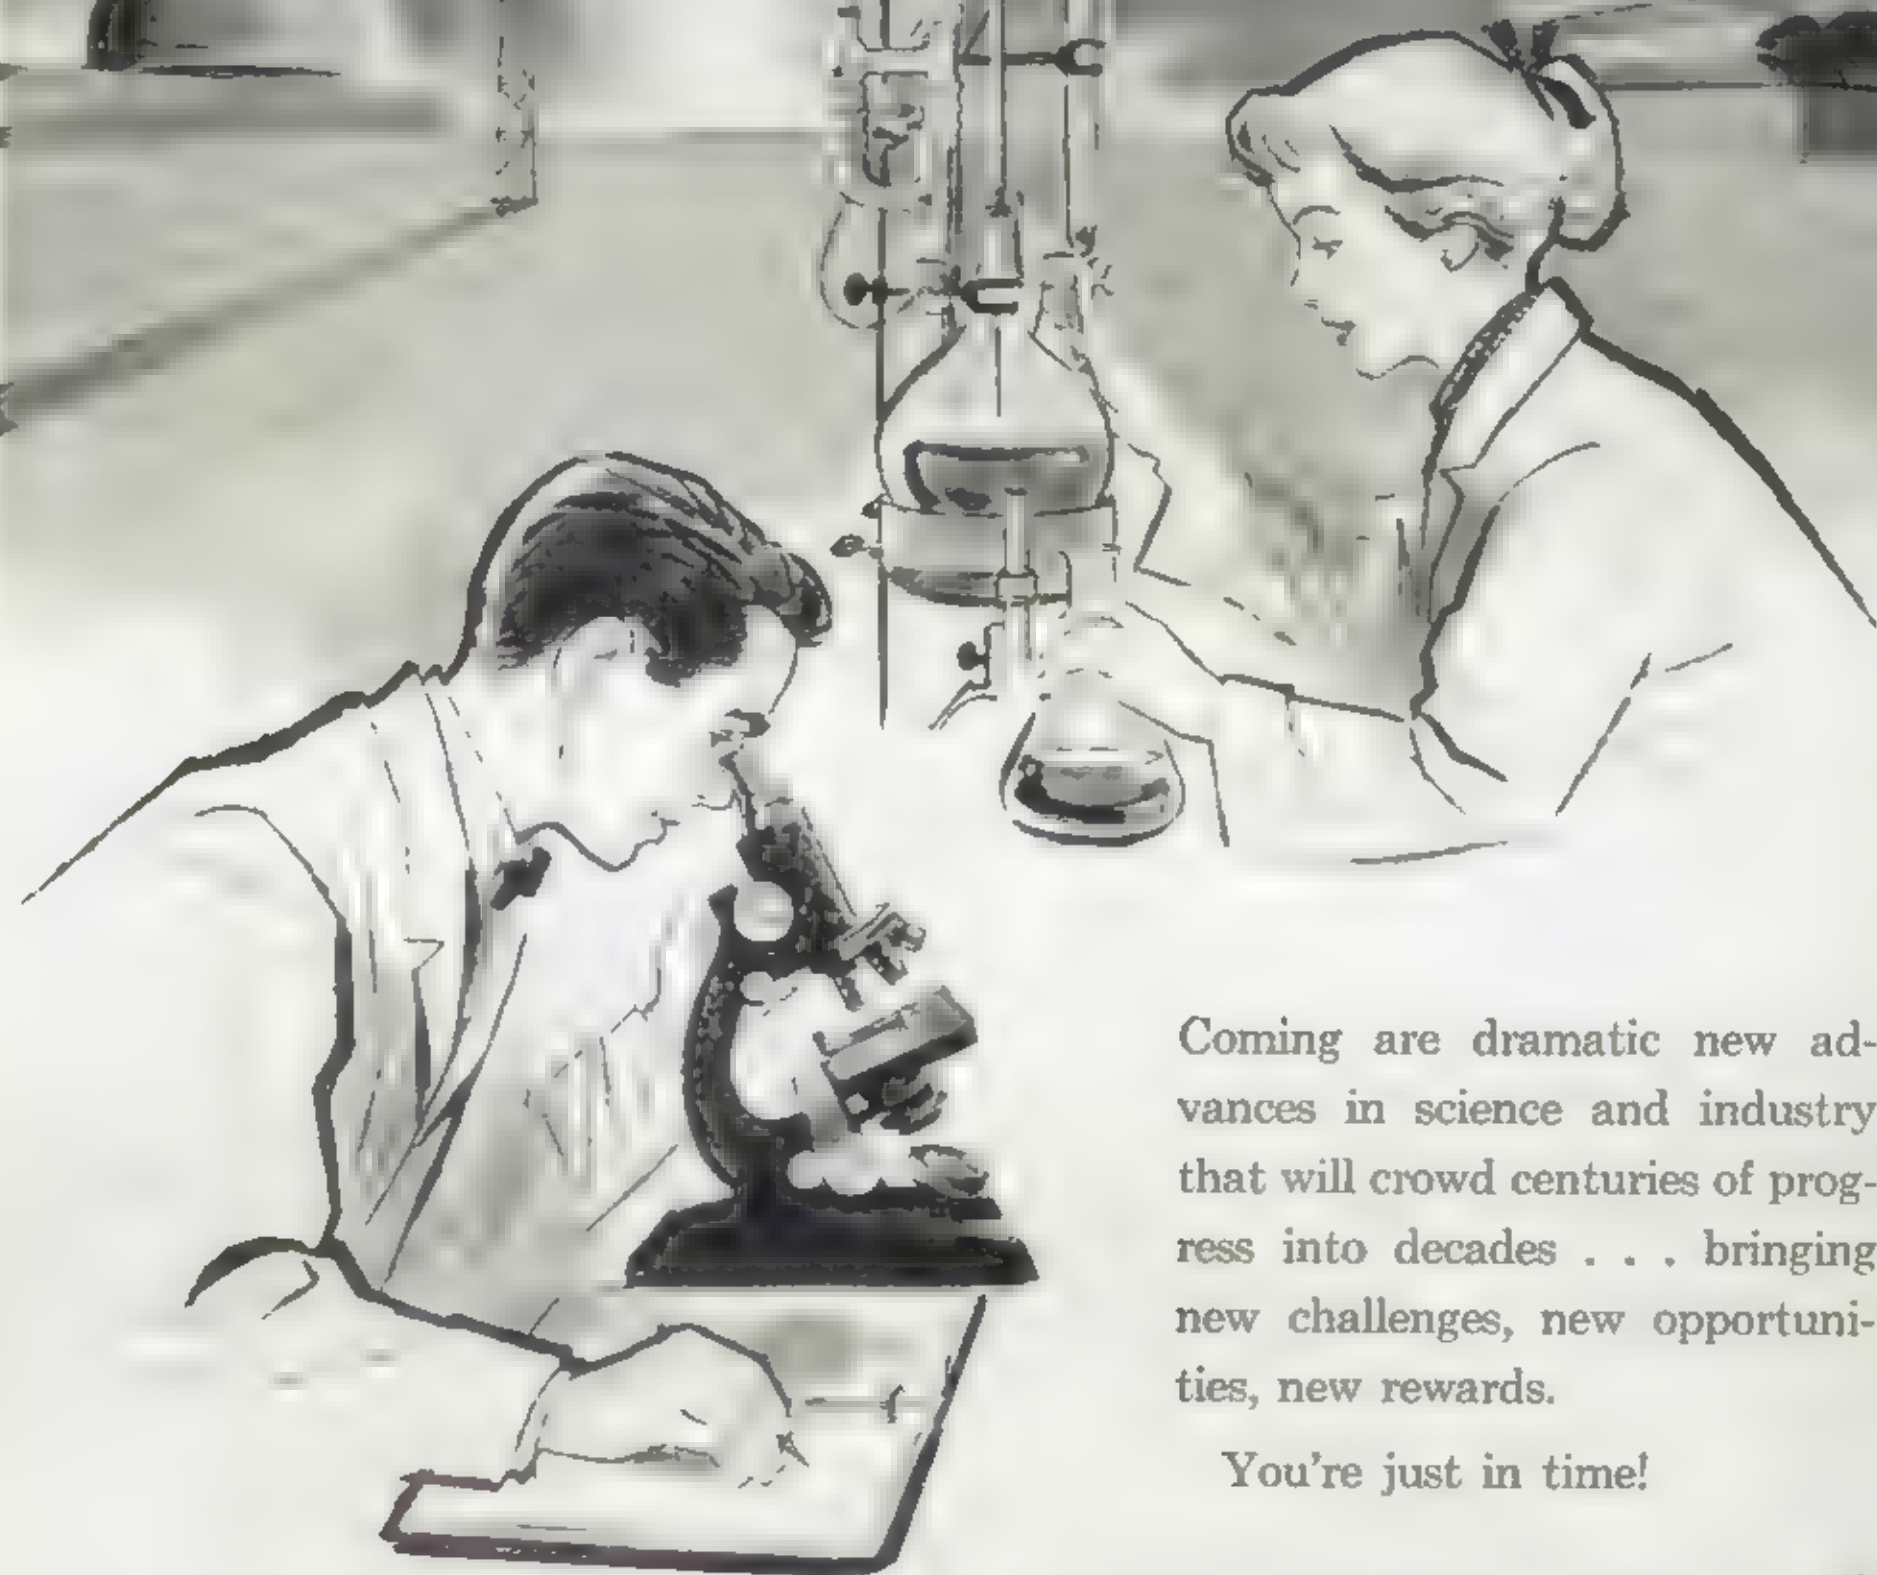

I almost have it — thinks Rosemary Loch as Joanne Schuster, guarded by Lucretia Wetzel valiantly throws a bounce pass.

A team may land in last place or first place in any sport — but one is always a champion in the eyes of God when she tries her best for the love of Him.

Queen of victory, pray for us," starts off each game with the hope of a victory.
